PEACE'S
ALMANAC
AND County Directory
FOR 1878

Eighteenth Year of Publication

KIRKWALL
WILLIAM PEACE, ALBERT STREET

PRICE THREEPENCE.

VALUABLE FAMILY MEDICINE.

ESTABLISHED

A.D. 1835.

BY THE USE OF WHICH

DURING THE LAST FORTY YEARS
MANY THOUSANDS OF CURES

Have been effected; numbers of which cases had been pronounced INCURABLE!

The numerous well authenticated Testimonials in disorders of the HEAD, CHEST, BOWELS, LIVER, and KIDNEYS; also in RHEUMATISM, ULCERS, SORES, and all SKIN DISEASES, are sufficient to prove the great value of this most useful Family Medicine, it being a direct

PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD

AND OTHER

FLUIDS OF THE HUMAN BODY.

Many persons have found these Pills of great service both in preventing and relieving SEA SICKNESS; and in warm climates they are very beneficial in all Bilious Complaints.

ALSO

WHELPTON'S

VEGETABLE STOMACH PILLS

Are particularly suited to Weakly Persons, being exceedingly mild and gradual in their operation, imparting tone and vigour to the Digestive organs.

ESTABLISHED

A.D. 1835.

Prepared and sold wholesale and retail in boxes, prices 7½d, 1s 1½d, and 2s 9d, by G. WHELPTON & SON, 3 Crane Court, Fleet Street, London; sent free to any part of the United Kingdom on receipt of 8, 14, or 33 stamps.

SOLD BY ALL CHEMISTS AND MEDICINE VENDORS AT HOME AND ABROAD.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE.

THE demand for Peace's Orkney and Shetland Almanac and County Directory during the past year was even greater than at any former period of its existence, not a single copy of the large impression printed being left unsold—a test of popular approval so sure as to have been secured only by the completeness and accuracy of the contents of the publication. It is, we believe, a fact that more copies of this Almanac and Directory are, every year, sold in the County than there is of all other Almanacs and Annuals put together.

Very considerable and important additions have been made to the contents of the present Edition, and such as will no doubt be found peculiarly serviceable to all engaged in mercantile and agricultural pursuits.

As usual the utmost care has been taken to secure accuracy, but from the varied character of the contents, and the changes which are constantly taking place, perfection in this department can scarcely be expected. It is, however, hoped that errors, if any, are few, and the Publisher would again invite friends who may stumble across any defect to communicate with him at once, and not delay doing so until a new edition is about to be issued, by which time it may be too late to effect any alteration.

The Publisher, in conclusion, begs to express his sincere thanks to those friends who have for so many years favoured him with their advertisements. It is highly gratifying to know that he has furnished the County with the two best advertising mediums it contains, viz., The Almanac and Directory and The Orkney Herald, both of which stand unrivalled for the extent of their circulation, and the accuracy of their information.

JAMES MIDDLEMASS & Co.,

Clothiers, Shirt Makers, Pulpit Robe Makers,

AND GENERAL OUTFITTERS,

18 SOUTH BRIDGE, EDINBURGH,

TAKE the present opportunity of returning their best thanks to their very large circle of General Customers in the Northern Counties. Their Establishment, Messrs J. M. & Co. are proud to think, has for a long series of years been among the BEST KNOWN and MOST EXTENSIVE in the Country for the manufacture of ECCLESIASTICAL, ACADEMICAL, AND FORENSIC ROBES, and for General Outfitting for home and abroad.

Grateful for so very flattering a mark of public favour, no effort shall be wanting on their part to continue and extend the good name they have acquired, and if possible to render their Establishment still more worthy of public support. For this purpose all that the best professional skill and the greatest experience can do, in combination with a large, carefully-selected Stock, and the most recent appliances and improvements to insure PERFECTION in CUT, FIT, AND MAKE, combined with ELEGANCE, DURABILITY, AND ECONOMY, will be placed at the disposal of their Customers, who will always find on view in their Show and Fitting Rooms the LATEST NOVELTIES of Material and Make in Robes, Clothing, and Shirts.

One of Messrs J. M. & Coy.'s Travellers visits the towns in the Northern Counties—including Orkney and Shetland—twice a-year, and if at any time any parties wish that he should call upon them, they have only to communicate with the house, when their names will be put upon the list, and their wishes will be attended to.

James Middlemas & Co.,

18 SOUTH BRIDGE,

EDINBURGH.

WORTHY OF NOTICE.

PALPITATION of the HEART caused by Liver Derangement and Indigestion, frequently called (or mistaken for) HEART DISEASE :—

“On the 14th of April I purchased a bottle of your FRUIT SALT, not feeling very well at the time, and it had an effect that I never anticipated when I bought it. I had suffered, more or less, since the year 1841 from Palpitation of the Heart; but very badly during the last few years. The least thing would produce it during the day, and at night my sleep was very much disturbed. Strange to say, after the first dose of FRUIT SALT the dangerous, annoying, and truly disagreeable symptoms of Palpitation suddenly ceased, and have not since returned. Out of gratitude for the benefit which I have received I have recommended it to all my friends both in London and Yarmouth; at the same time, I feel it a duty to state the above facts, of which you can make whatever use you please.—I am, dear Sir, yours respectfully, “W. B. BECKETT.

Coml.-road, London, E.”

USE ENO'S FRUIT SALT,

PREPARED FROM SOUND RIPE FRUIT.

Without such a simple precaution the jeopardy of life is immensely increased.

LORD BEACONSFIELD justly stated the other day that, "The health of the people is really the foundation upon which all their happiness and power as a state depend." For the most practical mode of preventing disease and premature death, see a large illustrated sheet given with each bottle of Eno's Fruit Salt—the information is invaluable.

"ROSINA COTTAGE, VETNOR, ISLE OF WIGHT,
January 29, 1877.

"To MR ENO,—Dear Sir,—I write to thank you as being one of my best friends. I commenced to take your Fruit Salt on the 14th of December last, and it has not only cured me of the symptoms advertised, but also of cramp, which I have had occasionally ever since I can remember. The effects in my case are astonishing, as I am constitutionally bilious, and am now fifty-two years of age. My mother and youngest sister were never cured of sickness (biliousness seems hereditary), and I quite expected to suffer like them for the rest of my life. I am now taking my fourth bottle, and was joined in the others by some of my family, so that I have taken scarcely three bottles. I feel I ought to make some acknowledgment, so trust you will excuse this.

ELIZA PELLING."

"14, RUE DE LA PAIX, PARIS, January 16, 1877.

"A gentleman called in yesterday; he is a constant sufferer from Chronic Dyspepsia, and has taken all sorts of Mineral Waters. I recommended him to give your Salt a trial, which he did, and received great benefit; he says he never knew what it was to be without pain until he tried your Salt, and for the future shall never be without it in the house.

M. BERAL."

Messrs. GIBSON & SON, Chemists, of Hexham, say:—"Since we introduced your FRUIT SALT in Hexham a few months ago, we have sold about One Thousand Bottles, and it gives general satisfaction, as customers who get it almost always recommend it to their friends."

A Lady writes:—"Everything, medicine or food, ceased to act properly for at least three months before I commenced taking ENO'S FRUIT SALT; the little food I could take generally punished me or returned. My life was one of great suffering, so that I must have succumbed before long. To me and our family it has been a great earthly blessing. I feel I cannot say too much for it. The least I can do is to do my best to make the Fruit Salt known to other sufferers. I am getting better rapidly, and expect to totally recover after spending hundreds of pounds and over on other remedies, and travelling about for twelve years."

A NATURAL APERIENT.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT acts as a natural Aperient, its simple but natural action removes all impurities, thus preserving and restoring health.—If its great value in keeping the body in health were universally known no family would be without it.

IN again directing the attention of Agriculturists to these excellent Manures, it seems only necessary for the Subscriber to say that he will have a supply on hand at the usual season.

These Manures are now so well known to Farmers in all parts of the County, and the success which has attended their use has been so remarkable—as well when used by themselves as when tested alongside other Manures, even the best Peruvian Guano—that he has repeatedly been unable to meet the demand, or supply the order of Customers.

Farmers should note that PRENTICE'S MANURES, in addition to producing an abundant crop on their first application, also so greatly enrich the soil that succeeding crops are largely benefited thereby.

These manures, while the LOWEST IN PRICE, have produced the finest crops ever raised in the County.

W O O D ' S
WORLD'S HIGHEST PRIZE MOWERS & REAPERS.

The One-Horse Reaper | The Mower and Reaper

Is both new and novel. It is remarkable for its extreme simplicity and compactness; and for the ease and rapidity with which all adjustments can be made by the driver. The draught is so light as to astonish all, and the Machine as a whole most perfect. Amongst the improvements lately made on this Machine is a new Cutbar Bar for Reaping, 4 feet 6 inches long.

Is the most simple and efficient Reaper made. The general construction is the same as the One-Horse, but with Rakes equally novel. There are neither chains nor cogs to drive the Rakes, and nothing to get out of order. The Sheaf can be regulated at pleasure, and the driver has entire control of the Machine. It is just what has been wanted—light draught, easy work, strong and durable.

The Self-Delivery Reaper ("Wood's Champion")

THESE MACHINES EXCEL ALL OTHERS.

WOOD'S MACHINES

Are more extensively sold, and more generally used, than any similar implement. The demand increases year by year. They are sold in all parts of the world, and are admitted to be unequalled. The Subscriber may state that he has

MEASUREMENT AND WEIGHT OF CATTLE.

TAKE the Girth close behind the shoulders, and multiply it by itself: take the Length from the top of the shoulder to the extremity of the buttocks, which, multiplied by the above, and divided by 7344, will give the Weight of a Fat Animal in Imperial Stones. Should the Animal be extra fat, add a twentieth; and if inferior, deduct about the same quantity.

To find the Weight from the Table—Look in the column marked Girth for 35, and in the Column marked Length for 34, and then in the next column, in the same line with the length, is 5 stones, 9lbs., being the Imperial Weight.

Note. The Smithfield Weight may be found by multiplying the Imperial Weight by 14, and dividing by 8.

MEASUREMENT AND WEIGHT OF HAY
IN RICKS OF AN OBLONG FORM.

To find the Weight from the Table—Look for the length in the left-hand column, on the right of it for the breadth and (mean) height, opposite to which in the next column you will find the weight.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.—This Calendar will be found useful for determining the time domesticated animals may be expected to bring forth. For instance, to know on what day a cow will calve which has had intercourse with the bull on Sep. 16, glance across the page until the column headed "Cow" is reached, and it will be seen that on June 28 she may be expected to calve; and so on of all the other animals.

It will thus be seen that a letter or parcel exceeding the weight of 12 ounces is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce or fraction of an ounce, beginning with the first ounce.

No letter or parcel must exceed 18 inches in length, 9 inches in breadth, or 6 inches in depth.

A letter posted unpaid will be charged on delivery with double postage, and a letter posted insufficiently prepaid will be charged double the deficiency.

Concurrently with the reduction of postage on Inland Letters, the Inland Sample Post was abolished.

REGISTRATION.

By the prepayment of a fee of fourpence, any letter, newspaper, or book-packet may be registered to any place in the United Kingdom or the British Colonies. The Post Office will not undertake the safe transmission of valuable enclosures in unregistered letters; and letters found to contain coin will, on delivery, be charged double fee.

INLAND BOOK-POST.

The Book-Post rate is One Halfpenny for every 2 ozs., or fraction of 2 ozs.

A Book-Packet may contain not only books, paper, or other substance in ordinary use for writing or printing, whether plain or written or printed upon; to the exclusion of any written letter or communication of the nature of a letter, photographs, when not on glass or in frames containing glass or any like substance, and anything usually appertaining to such articles in the way of binding and mounting, or necessary for their safe transmission by post, but also Circulars when these are wholly or in great part printed, engraved, or lithographed.

Every book-packet must be posted either without a cover or in a cover open at both ends, and in such a manner as to admit of the contents being easily withdrawn for examination—otherwise it will be treated as a letter.

Any Book-Packet which may be found to contain a letter or communication of the nature of a letter, not being a Circular-letter or not wholly printed, or any enclosure sealed or in any way closed against inspection, or any other enclosure not allowed by the regulations of the Book-Post, will be treated as a Letter, and charged with double the deficiency of the Letter postage.

A packet posted wholly unpaid will be charged with double the Book-Postage; and if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency.

No Book-Packet may exceed 5 lbs. in weight, or 1 foot 6 inches in length, 9 inches in width, and 6 inches in depth.

POSTAGE ON INLAND NEWSPAPERS.

A postage of one halfpenny is charged for the transmission of each newspaper, as defined by the Act. Such newspaper posted for inland circulation must be prepaid by adhesive stamp or stamped wrapper. The prepaid rate for a packet containing two or more registered newspapers is one halfpenny for each newspaper, or, if under 2 ounces, then at the book rate of one halfpenny for every 2 oz., or fraction of 2 oz. No packet of newspapers must exceed 2 feet in length, or 1 foot in width or depth, or 1½lb. in weight.

POST CARDS.

The post cards, which bear a halfpenny impressed stamp, are only available for transmission between places in the United Kingdom. The front (or stamped) side is intended for the address only. On the reverse side any communication, whether of the nature of a letter or otherwise, may be written or printed. Nothing may be attached; if the card be folded, cut, or otherwise altered, it will be charged on delivery as an under-paid letter.

POST-OFFICE ORDERS.

Money Orders are granted in the United Kingdom as follows:—

POST-OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.

By 24 Vic. cap. 14, deposits of one shilling, or of any number of shillings, or of pounds and shillings, will be received from any depositor at the Post-Office Savings Banks, provided the deposits made by such depositor in any year ending the 31st day of December do not exceed £30, and provided the total amount standing in such depositor's name in the books of the Postmaster-General do not exceed £150, exclusive of interest. When the principal and interest together, standing to the credit of any one depositor, amount to the sum of £200, all interest will cease, so long as the same funds continue to amount to the said sum of £200.

The interest is calculated to the 31st December in every year, and is then added to, and becomes part of the principal.

TELEGRAPHIC MESSAGES.

Telegraph Messages are now sent to and from all the principal towns and villages in the United Kingdom at the uniform tariff of One Shilling for Twenty Words.

REGISTERED FISHING BOATS.

Owners and Masters of fishing boats must comply with the following rules:—

1. Every boat used as a Fishing Boat for purposes of Sale must be registered, lettered, and numbered, as required by the Sea Fisheries Regulations.

2. The master of every registered Sea Fishing Boat must have on board his boat at all times (unless specially exempted by the Board of Trade) the Certificate of Registry.

3. If the Certificate is lost, immediate application must be made for another.

4. The Certificate must be presented to the Fishery Officer—

a. Once in every year for examination and endorsement;

b. On a change of master, for the same to be noted thereon.

5. On a change of ownership, or on removal to another Collectorship, of any Registered Boat, a fresh Certificate of Registry must be applied for, and the former Certificate given up to be cancelled.

Non-compliance with either of these regulations render the Owner and the Master liable to a penalty not exceeding Twenty Pounds, besides the seizure and detention of the boat.

EAST COAST LIGHTS.

SUNDERLAND, N. Pier head. Two fixed lights; upper White, visible 13 miles; lower Red, vis. 6. If the wind is westerly, S. Pier light is put out at high water. The Green light under is a signal denoting danger in the harbour, will be exhibited from the new lighthouse, seen over an arc of 144 deg. When the tide light is not shown, no vessel should attempt entering the harbour, as it is very dangerous. S. Pier Head. Fixed White light, visible 10 miles.

SOUTER POINT, on Point. White electric light, fixed, and flashes every half-minute, visible 20 miles; also a fixed light, White and Red sectors. The fixed light in Souter Point tower also electric, 21 ft. below the flashing light, and shows White between bearings N. by W. and N.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E., and Red between N.  $\frac{3}{4}$  E. and N. by E.  $\frac{3}{4}$  E. A powerful fog horn is sounded in thick or foggy weather from Souter Point lighthouse. The horn is seaward of the lighthouse, and blasts are emitted at intervals of 45 seconds, and equally distributed through an arc of 180 deg., viz., from N.  $\frac{1}{4}$  E. round easterly to S.  $\frac{1}{4}$  W.

TYNEMOUTH, in Castle Yard. Red light revolving every minute, visible 18 miles. Three vertical fixed lights, Green at top, White in centre, and Red at bottom, at North Pier Works. Fixed Red light on middle of North Pier.

TYNE, or North Shields. Two fixed White lights, bearing from each other, E. by S. and W. by N., visible 16 and 13 miles.

COQUET, S.W. part of Island. Two fixed lights, in one tower. High light White, with a Red sector, vis. 14 miles; low light, White and Red sectors, 28 ft. below the other. The former shows White from seaward between bearings S. by W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W. and N.  $\frac{3}{4}$  E.; and Red from S. by W.  $\frac{1}{2}$  W. into the land to cover Bulmer Bush and Bulmer Stile Rocks. A dim light is seen round remainder of the circle. The low light is White between bearings of NN.W. and N.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W., and Red from N.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W. to N. by E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E. over Bondicar Bush Shoal. When the upper light is lost sight of, the line of Hauxley Point and Bondicar Bush will be passed, and while in the Red light great caution is necessary in approaching the shore.

WARKWORTH, N. end of S. Pier. Fixed Red light, visible 1 mile.

FARN ISLANDS, Farn. Two lights, higher near S.W. point of island, lower near N.W. point, bearings N. by W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W. and S. by E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E. easterly, 187 yards.

High revolving every half-minute, Low fixed; the former visible 15 miles, the latter 12. Low light is visible between bearings of SS.E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E. and S. by E., but not from southward. A powerful fog trumpet will be sounded in thick or foggy weather.

BERWICK PIER HEAD. Two fixed lights in same tower, visible 12 and 8 miles. High light White, Low Red. Berwick Pier light is not visible unless vessel be eastward of the Seal Carr ledges.

LONGSTONE, on the western side of the islet, one White light, revolving every half-minute, visible 15 miles. Dangers extend more than three-quarters of a mile to the N.E. of lighthouse. A powerful fog trumpet will be sounded in thick or foggy weather.

EYEMOUTH. Two fixed leading lights, upper Red, on corner of a house; lower White on W. Pier head; visible 10 and 8 miles.

ST. ABB'S, on Head, White light, flashing every 10 seconds, visible 20 miles.

DUNBAR, Old Harbour. Fixed light, visible 5 miles. White in direction of entrance, Blue to Westward, Red to eastward. Victoria Harbour—Fixed White light.

FIRTH OF FORTH, Isle of May, on the summit of the Isle, N.E. side. Two fixed lights, visible 21 and 15 miles. When in one they lead about half-a-mile to the E. of the North Carr Rock. The Lights must on no account be opened to the W.

BELL ROCK, near N. end of reef. One light, revolving every minute, visible 15 miles. White and Red alternately. The base of the lighthouse is covered about 10 feet at high water. In foggy weather a bell is sounded every half-minute.

ST. ANDREW'S. Two fixed lights—one on Pier head, Red; the other White, on Turret in Cathedral wall. The former visible 6, and the latter 5 miles.

BUDDONNESS, or Tay, on the Ness. Two fixed White lights, visible 15 and 12 miles, bearing N.W. by N. and S.E. by S. 401 yards. Leading lights towards the mouth of Tay river.

DUNDEE HARBOUR, Middle and Eastern Piers (2), bearing N.W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W. and S.E.  $\frac{3}{4}$  E. 130 yards. Fixed Red Lights, visible 7 miles. In one they lead clear to the Southwestward of the Beacon Rock.

ARBROATH, on Northern Pier. Fixed Red Light, visible 8 miles, when vessels are about to enter. An Occasional White Flash is a warning to keep off.

MONTROSE, N. side of the entrance (2), bearing N.W. by W.  $\frac{1}{2}$  W. and S.E. by E.  $\frac{3}{4}$  E. 30 $\frac{1}{2}$  yards. Fixed Red Lights, visible 10 and 11 miles. When in one they lead into the river and clear the Annat Bank.

MONTROSENESS, Fixed White Light. Visible 17 miles.

GIRDLENESS, on the Ness; (2) vertical, in same Tower. Fixed, visible 19 and 16 miles. Fog Steam Whistle sounded at intervals of one minute, the sound to continue about ten seconds each time, and be repeated day and night while the fog lasts.

ABERDEEN, on the North Pier Head. Fixed, and visible 8 miles, from half flood till high water.

ABERDEEN, half a mile up the Harbour, on South Shore (2), bearing W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  S. and E.  $\frac{1}{4}$  N. 220 yards. Fixed, and visible 3 miles. These lights are Red when entrance is safe, but Green when ships cannot enter. When in line they bear W. by S. southerly.

SUCHANNESS, or Boddum Point, on the Ness. Flashes every 5 seconds, visible 16 miles.

PETERHEAD, S. Harbour, elbow of W. Pier. Fixed, visible 10 miles, shown between bearings of N. by W. round northerly to N.E. by E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E.

PETERHEAD, N. Harbour, West Pier. Fixed Red Light, visible 10 miles. Seen between the bearings of S.W.  $\frac{1}{2}$  S. and W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  S.

FRASERBURGH, Pier Head and Middle Pier, 2 Fixed Red Lights bearing S.E. by E. and N.W. by W. 76 yards. Fixed, and visible 5 miles.

KINNAIRD HEAD, on the Head. Fixed Light, White and Red sectors, visible 15 miles. White between the bearings of E. by S.  $\frac{3}{4}$  S., round southerly to N.W. by N.; then Red northerly as far as the land admits to indicate Rattray Briggs rocks.

MACDUFF, N. Pier head. Fixed light, White and Red sectors, visible 6 miles. Red when harbour is open.

BANFF, on N. Pier head. Fixed White light, visible 8 miles.

WICK, or Pulteneytown, E. Pier Head. Fixed Red Light, visible 8 miles. When it is unsafe to enter the Harbour three Black Balls are shown on the look-out tower, at the south head, by day, and a Green Light by night.

NOSS HEAD, on the Head. Revolves every half-minute; Bright to seaward, and Red towards Sinclair Bay. Visible 18 miles.

PENTLAND SKERRIES, on the Island. Two Fixed Lights, bearing N.N.E. and S.S.W. 33 yards, and visible 18 and 16 m.

DUNNET HEAD, a fixed light, visible 23 miles.

HOLBURN HEAD, flashing every 10 seconds, white towards Pentland Firth and Thurso Bay till it bears N.N.E., but Red towards Scrabster Roads.

ORKNEY ISLANDS.

AUSKERRY, Stronsay Firth. Fixed White Light, on south end of the island, visible 16 miles.

CANTICK, on the Head, S.E. extremity of South Walls, Hoy Island. White light, revolves every minute, visible 15 miles.

HOY SOUND. The High Light stands on the N.E. point of Gramsay Island, and the Low Light on the N.W. point, and bearing S.E.  $\frac{3}{4}$  E. and N.W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W. 2237 yards. Two Fixed Lights, visible 15 and 11 miles. The High Light is Red when seen from seaward, but White when between S.S.E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E. and W.S.W.; it also lights a small arc towards Cava in Scapa Flow, between N.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W. and N.N. W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W. The Low Light is White, and is visible between E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  S. and W.  $\frac{1}{2}$  N. round by N. When the Lights are in one they lead between the Rocks of Bow and Kirk; when within half a mile of the shore on this line the High Light disappears below the fore-ground, then haul towards the Stromness shore when the Red Light will re-appear.

KIRKWALL, on Pier Head, fixed Red Light. Another fixed light, White, on inner harbour pier head. Visible 9 miles.

START POINT, Sanday. Fixed Red, and visible 15 miles.

NORTH RONALDSHAY. White, flashes every 10 seconds, visible 18 miles.

SHETLAND ISLANDS.

SUMBURGH HEAD. S.W. point of the Shetlands. Fixed, visible 21 miles, from N.E. by E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E. to N.W. by N.  $\frac{1}{4}$  N, by the S.

The Cost of War.

It is calculated that the money expended by European nations for warlike purposes amounts to £400,000,000 a year, to which is to be added the interest on the various debts, making the total no less than £550,000,000 drawn from the people every year for military establishments.

The wars between the Houses of York and Lancaster lasted 30 years, and cost the lives of 2 kings, 1 prince, 10 dukes, 2 marquisses, 21 earls, 27 lords, 2 viscounts, 1 lord prior, 1 judge, 139 knights, 441 esquires, and above 100,000 private men, in twelve battles.

Story of the Fair of St Ola : A Kirkwall Comic Ghost.

By Daniel Corrie.

“ Loud fell the gate against the post,
 Her heart-strings like to crack ;
 For much she feared the grizzly ghost
 Would leap upon her back.”

—Bloomfield's "Fakenham Ghost."

THE annual Lammas Fair, still held in Kirkwall—the quaint old chief town and royal burgh of the Orkney Islands—was a far grander thing long ago than it is now, and some idea of its glory in its palmy days may be gathered from Sir Walter Scott's description in the "Pirate"—a romance, the scene of which is laid both in Shetland and Orkney. During the time of the fair, which lasted two or three weeks, the ancient cathedral of St Magnus, in the early years of last century, was little better than a caravanseral, and was the common resort of all and sundry who could find no accommodation in the crowded inns and lodging-houses of the town. In the local record of the Presbytery the burghers are indignantly accused of "burning great fires on the graves of the dead, drinking, fiddling, piping, swearing, and cursing night and day within the church." This desecration continued for years, and the scandal of carousals became so great that the town authorities at last saw the necessity of ordering intruders to be cleared out of the cathedral before nightfall.

Peter Peterson, grave-digger and Jack-of-all-work, was the important functionary on whom, late in last century, devolved the duty of carrying out the order of the provost and bailies, and of making sure that, when the massive doors of St Magnus were locked, everybody was locked outside. The task was by no means an easy one, and though Peter was an object of some dread, probably from the fact of his being a grave-digger, he occasionally required the assistance of the halbert-armed members of the town guard to aid him in ejecting refractory fair folk, who had imbibed too much smuggled gin or corn-brandy. There was a great deal of trouble at times, with the "Yaggers," or travelling merchants, when they fell out with each other over their potations, and tried to pick a drunken quarrel with any one who came in their way.

On one of the nights of the "Free Mercat," as the Fair of St Ola was called in the Proclamation, Peter Peterson, after finishing his expulsion work at the cathedral, repaired to a favourite tavern where, in addition to his "old cronies," he expected to meet an acquaintance or two from the town of Stromness, which bears a sisterly likeness to Kirkwall in the quaintness and narrowness of its streets and lanes. The door by which he gained admission to the snug back room of the hosterie was not the public one facing the street, but a sly hole-in-the-wall down a narrow wynd or close, whence exit could be made, without attracting observation, at all hours of the night. Peter found his Stromness friends already there, evidently bent on enjoying themselves, and also one or two of his "cronies," the remainder, three in number, only dropping in at intervals about an hour afterwards. Two silver snuff-boxes on the round table accompanied the big blue bottle, like satellites, in its everlasting circuit.

Any person favoured with a peep into the room might readily have noticed that the three members of the Back Room Club who came in last, and who were full of the humours of the fair, had some "ploy" or deep-laid scheme in hand, which they expected to yield a rich harvest of fun. They sometimes winked slyly at each other when they turned up their little fingers and their glasses, and a significant cough, more than once, seemed to be a signal to one of the three that it was time now to turn the conversation into a certain pre-arranged channel.

Accordingly Bill Slater, who was a shoemaker by trade, forthwith asked Peter's Stromness friends if they knew where Bessie Miller was going to put up for the night, as some people heard the old crone saying on the road she would sleep nowhere else but in the cathedral when she came through to Kirkwall. This Bessie Miller, be it known, was the famous "blue-eyed hag" of Stromness, who had the reputation of being a witch, who mumbled incantations over her boiling kettle, and who sold favourable winds to ship-captains when they crossed her withered palm with a piece of silver.

Peter Peterson clanked his high-heeled glass on the table, and looked both dubiously and defiantly at Billy Slater when he heard him repeat the words which the weird woman of Stromness—held in as evil repute as the witch of Endor—was reported to have uttered or muttered.

"I'll tell thee what, Billy," he exclaimed, with some emphasis, "she is more likely to sleep in thy housie this night than in the cathedral, as there was not a living soul left inside its walls when I locked the last door."

"Locked the last door!" responded Billy, with a chuckling laugh; "she might get in through the key-hole for all thou kens to the contrary; an' it's my opinion, an' that of others besides, that she's somewhere aneath the cathedral roof at this blessed moment."

Billy Slater appealed to his right and left-hand neighbours, and as they both agreed with him that nothing was more likely, Peter seemed a little put about at first; but he soon brought his clenched fist down with a "dirl" on the table, which made the glasses hop and tingle, and declared that it was all confounded nonsense.

"Well," said Billy, simultaneously nudging Hourie the saddler and Inkster the tailor as if he had been jerking his elbows at his trade, "I'll bet thee a bottle o' Bews's best that thou winna gang by theesel' into the cathedral to see whether Bessie Miller is there or no."

"Done!" cried Peter, whose face had been growing very red. "I'll go this very minute!" and he started to his feet, putting his hand into his coat-pocket, and producing a bunch of big keys, which should rather have been carried in a green bag.

Peter Peterson, I may here explain, had certain weaknesses, though otherwise a decent man and industrious grave-digger; and it was out of these weaknesses that three of his chief cronies had resolved, on this market-night, to extract some fun for themselves and other townspeople whom they had let into the secret. Boasting or bragging was one of Peter's chief failings, both when he was quite sober and when he had "a sheet in the wind." It might have been supposed that his occupation of grave-digger, bringing him so much into matter-of-fact every-day contact with skulls and cross-bones, would have made him superior to ghostly terrors; but this, unfortunately, was not the case—he was bolder of tongue than stout of heart. On the present occasion, however, heated by sundry glasses of strong liquor, he seemed ready for any enterprise, and he might have appropriately quoted the lines of Burns—

*"Inspiring, bold John Barleycorn!
What dangers thou canst make us scorn!"*

Peter was highly praised for his pluck, and the whole party who were present at the time in Bew's back room agreed to accompany him to the western entrance-door, which was to be left open, and to wait for him there until he returned from his solitary search. The considerate landlord, on learning the cause of this sudden movement, kindly furnished Peter with a large lantern, which had often been found of service on lonely moorland roads on winter nights.

"Be sure an' mind the lime-hole, Peter!" shouted Billy Slater after the gravedigger when his footsteps, which made a loud-echoing clatter, went sounding away up the aisle in the wake of the dancing gleam of the lamp.

"Ay," replied Peter, in a thick, husky voice, to the admonition, and he marched to the spot indicated with as much straightforwardness as he could muster in the circumstance. He recollected all at once that he had forgotten to close the lime-hole, which was situate in the north transept, and which was used for holding brooms and other articles, though it also contained a number of skulls which had been dislodged at various times from graves under the cathedral floor when the edifice was undergoing repair. Peter was rather astonished to find the door closed, but he set about opening it instinctively, as if the admonitory words of the shoemaker were still ringing in his ears.

Who shall describe his horror when, on pushing the door back, he heard a terrible rattling among the skulls, and, on lowering the light to get a glimpse into the interior, saw the fierce gleam of a pair of eyes which might have suited the prince of darkness better than the old beldame, Bessie Miller? But poor Peter was not long kept in an agony of suspense. He had just jerked round for the purpose of making a precipitate retreat when he felt a heavy body fling itself upon his back, and two long, hairy arms came twining about his neck, as if with the murderous intention of throttling him on the spot. It was by the light of the lantern that the horrified gravedigger saw the black, hairy arms and clutching fingers. In his terrible trepidation he dropped the light, and then, starting off from the transept for the nave, which he reached under the guidance of fear and not of sight, he ran in the direction of the entrance as rapidly as his heavy burden and half-choking sensation would permit, uttering spasmodic yells at intervals, and never slackening his pace until his career was arrested at the cathedral door by the outstretched arms and outspread palms of Billy Slater and his other convivial cronies.

"Shake her off! take her off! Oh, Billy, Billy, tear her off!" he cried, half breathless with haste and fear; and immediately, amid shouts and peals of laughter, which were swelled by a rapidly-gathering crowd, Peter's back was relieved of the incubus of a Gambia River baboon, which his club companions had borrowed for their night's diversion from some of the strolling show-folk who favoured with their presence the famous Fair of St Ola. Tradition is silent as to the kind or amount of revenge that Peter took for the trick that had been played upon him; but we may safely surmise that, after giving tongue to his upbraids, he would drown his animosity in the wagered bottle of "Bew's best," of which he would make sure to "swink" the biggest share himself.

In Peril on the Cliffs: The Lost Rope.

By Daniel Gorrie.

ON the west side of the Island of Westray, in the Orkneys, a wild wall of cliffs faces the Atlantic, and the shelves of these cliffs are the favourite haunt of Kitiwake gulls, puffins, cormorants, and other varieties of sea-fowl. Some years ago, when the islanders could place less dependence than they do now upon the product of their agricultural industry, they showed skill and daring in gathering the sea-fowls' eggs that were deposited in large numbers on the shelves of the rocks, and also in capturing the birds themselves by ingenious contrivances in the form of nets. Their occupation being as dangerous as that of the samphire-gatherers mentioned by Shakespeare in King Lear, the egg-gatherers sometimes had a rope round their waists which was fastened at the top of the cliffs; but frequently, like Thomas Edward, the now famous Scotch naturalist, they trusted for security to their own coolness of head and dexterity in the use of their hands and feet. There is a good story told of a daring and wary egg-gatherer, who, creeping cautiously along the narrow ledge of a steep cliff, came unexpectedly to a sharp angle, round which he required to pass. To his dismay he discovered that he had the wrong foot first, and, as he needed something to sustain him in these trying circumstances, he coolly took a pinch from his snuff-box before making the agile bound which enabled him to get safely round the angle of the beetling cliff. On reaching the summit he was asked by a companion—who had seen with great anxiety the perilous predicament in which he had been placed—how he could venture to take a pinch of snuff when he was in imminent danger of losing his life. "Weel," he naively replied, "what for no? I thocht I was needn't."

A thrilling adventure on these wild cliffs once befell a youth, named Nathau Scoray, the son of a small crofter, who had gone egg-gathering almost from his childhood, and who knew the rocks quite as well as the gulls and cormorants. He was noted for his daring, and it was only when he wanted to explore the most dangerous parts of the cliffs where the shelves were narrowest, that he took the precaution of having a rope round his waist. There were some of the old cronies in the island who, knowing how fearless he was, did not fail to predict that he was sure, some day or other, to get his neck broken, or to go hurling down to the bottom of the sea.

The adventure, which realised to a certain extent the predictions of the old women, may be briefly told. When rowing beneath the cliffs in a boat, for the purpose of noting, from the whitened appearance of the ledges, where the greatest posse of sea-towls' eggs was likely to be found, Nathan observed a spot which he thought would reward his boldest efforts, and he accordingly resolved to make a trial of it on the following day. As the shelves at the part he had selected to search were evidently narrow, he had the rope adjusted round his body, and was swung right over the face of the cliffs, fixing his feet on projections and ledges as he descended, and guiding his movements by dexterously grasping angular pieces of the rocks with his hands. The seabirds, disturbed by his movements, flew in clouds from the rocks, screaming seawards and skywards, and so angry were they—knowing, no doubt, he meant to pilfer their eggs—that it was fortunate for Nathan they did not possess the audacity of enraged eagles.

The bold egg-gatherer had reached a point about half-way down the rocks, when a sudden strain that he made in getting round a projection caused the rope—which must only have been inactively tied—to unloosen with a jerk, and poor Nathan, who barely succeeded in retaining foothold and handhold by a desperate effort, felt himself, with an unwonted sensation of agonised horror, to be in the most perilous plight he had ever experienced in his life. He had slipped down a little distance, and the end of the dangling rope was about on a level with his mouth. It was impossible for him, while he tenaciously grasped the rocks, to make use of his hands in trying to clutch the lost rope, and when he snatched at it several times with his teeth, the sea-breeze, playing along the front of the cliff, caused it to sway to and fro like a pendulum, as if in wanton mockery of the misery he endured. Bold and skilful in cliff-climbing as he was, young Nathan Scoway now found himself completely baffled, and felt the full horror of utter helplessness. The two or three companions who had assisted in launching him from the top of the cliffs had retired from the spot where the stake was fixed, and they could have rendered him no assistance even if they had remained, as the whole incidents of the casualty passed in a very brief time. The downward rattle of some detached pieces of the rock intensified still more Nathan's terror, as it warned him that his foothold was giving way; and his feeling of dread was accompanied by the consciousness that the weight of his body was causing his hands to slip, though he almost dug his finger-nails into the ledge. Suddenly a reeling sensation of dizziness thrilled through his brain; for an instant only he knew he was in the act of falling, but in that instant he had presence of mind enough to fling himself off with all his remaining strength from the face of the cliff. By doing this he escaped being dashed against the narrow ledges in his downward descent of forty or fifty feet; and thus it happened that he fell, quite clear of the rocks, like a lump of lead in the sea, causing the waters to foam and bubble at the spot where he disappeared. Fortunately for Nathan, though the companions whom he had left above did not know what had befallen him, his headlong descent had been seen and heard by some fishers, who were in a yawl not far off, and they pulled in all haste to the spot where Nathan had gone down, like an involuntary diver, into the depths of the sea. Before they reached the spot he had risen to the surface, and they were delighted and surprised to observe, from the swimming movements of his arms, that the brave egg-gatherer would be able to keep himself afloat until they got near enough to effect his rescue. Though stunned by the stroke of his heavy plunge into the sea, the instinct of self-preservation had caused Nathan—who could swim like a seagull—to make the needful movements of the limbs that brought him rapidly to the surface, and, notwithstanding the great exhaustion under which he laboured, he succeeded in keeping his head above water until the friendly fishermen hauled him on board their boat. At first, when he fainted right off, they looked with dismay in each other's faces, but the judicious use of restoratives, with which they were provided, brought him round again; and then they rowed him ashore, and did not leave the brave lad until they saw him snug in bed in his father's cot. Nathan soon recovered from the effects of his casualty; but he would never use a treacherous rope again when he resumed his "dreadful trade" of gathering sea-fowls' eggs on the cliffs of the island.

Some Passages in the Life of Magnus Halcro',

LATE TRAVELLING-MERCHANT IN ORENEY.

By David Frøder.

"He was a gentle trader and a prudent,
And seasoned all his glittering merchandise
With wholesome doctrines."—Author of Waverley.

THE parish of Holm is perhaps one of the most beautiful in the Orcadian archipelago. It slopes gently to the "sweet south," and is protected from the inclemency of the northern blast by a range of heath-clad hills sufficiently high for this purpose, without being high enough to retain their snowy coverings on the return of spring. A considerable number of limpid rivulets meander from the heights to the shore, giving an air of fertility and freshness to the scene; while the shore itself is laved by one of the noblest firths that can be conceived, rushing to and from the German Ocean with irresistible velocity; and with a noise, should the wind blow in an adverse direction, ten thousand times louder than the fall of Lodore, so admirably described by Southey.

Where, indeed, can there be a greater difference than between the surplus water of a puny mountain-lake, falling from an elevation of some forty or fifty feet, and the illimitable, unfathomable Atlantic urging its resistless course through a narrow strait, chafed and maddened at intervals by rock, islet, and headland, whilst the fierce east wind sweeps over its agitated surface, making the white billows take even a vertical direction, as if they would brave the very heavens? Moreover, the men of this hyperborean Paradise are proverbial over the country for prudence, caution, temperance, and all the Franklinian virtues. There are volumes of wise saws floating on the breath of the Holm population, which may yet enrich the libraries of those who are wise in their generation, when a suitable Chambers shall be found to collect and edit them. Anacreon and Tom Moore are held in abomination by this money-making generation; while Cocker and Franklin, and the honourable member for Middlesex, are objects of the profoundest reverence. The doctrines of George Fox have never found supporters in this peculiar spot, except in so far as the evasion of tax-paying is concerned; but the aphorism of a celebrated quaker is familiar among them as household words—namely, "Son, get money, honestly if thou canst; but get money."

A schism had nearly arisen among them as to the faithful translation of a passage of holy writ—viz., "The love of money is the root of all evil." A large majority of these learned Thebans insisted that the translators had erred, and wished to read it thus—"The want of money," &c.; but, after considerable argumentation and ingenuity had been displayed on both sides, they wisely came to the resolution to make it a matter of forbearance.

A certain wight, to whom nature had given a joyous temperament, returning from Edinburgh, where he had imbibed a little liberalism, so far departed from established custom as to sing one of Ramsay's bon vivant liltis at the marriage of a near relation. But when he came to—

"Now heap the fire, and digt the ribs,
An' het the house baith but an' ben;
That mutchkin stoup it hauds but dribs,
Sae let's bring in the tappit hen!"

the maidens tossed their pretty heads, the young men smiled significantly, the elders scowled, and coughing became so general, that the far-travelled youth, who had been nine weeks in Edinburgh, was compelled to be silent; whilst Mansie Tangle, the lank-haired ferry-man, was put on the lect for an elder for skrieghing "Auld Rob Morris,"—who, by the bye, had numerous flocks of black sheep, and other good things pertaining to this life.

Such is a slight outline of the parish and people where Magnus Halcro' first opened his eyes on a sinful world; and few in that world ever opened their eyes on greater penury, or murkier prospects.

During the time that his mother was nceinte, his father perished at the Greenland whale-fishing; and when the fatal tidings arrived, the poor woman gave premature birth to him whose story we are about to relate.

The hapless orphan had no relatives in the district save an old woman, a distant relation of his father, who, with much toil and attention, made a bare shift to keep the wolf from the door, even without the incumbrance of an infant. But, with that noble independence which has ever characterised our Orcadian matrons, she scorned the paltry pittance doled out by the kirk-session. She took the child to her cottage, docked some of her former finery, and clothed it like a little prince. If she rose early formerly, she got up earlier now—if she was assiduous heretofore, she henceforth doubled her diligence. The demand for “hand-spun” yarn increased; the meal fell in price; the potatoes became more plentiful year after year; and by the time our hero saw his sixth birth-day, old Mabel found she was in easier circumstances than when, with trembling hands and a woe-begone heart, she bore the little Mansie to her shieling.

There be readers in this reading age who may suppose that our little varlet did nothing from the time he began to toddle until the end of his first lustre, but make dirt pies and torment the poor kitten. They are mistaken. As his grandaunt's cot was contiguous to the parish school, his mild blue eyes and winning manner quite captivated the dominie, who, though he had ten or a dozen boys of his own, made a complete pet of “auld Mabel's curlie.” To be the master's favourite, is to make the whole school favourites. Gray has said, “A favourite has no friends.” I deny the position. Mansie was not only the master's favourite but the favourite of every boy and girl that attended his seminary; and hence “King Pepin,” “Cock Robin,” “The Glass Slipper,” &c. &c. were as familiar to the urchin as if he had had the pocket-money of an embryo laird.

Symptoms of industry began to develop themselves even at this tender age. During the time that others were playing various games on the school-green, Mansie invariably kept the inside of the school, and diligently picked up every pin and needle that lay beneath the forms; and in process of time he had a little treasure, as he carefully stuck them in the leaves of written copy-books, cut into regular slips, and arranged with a neatness and precision that would have done honour to Obadiah Minikin, the great Southwark pinnaker. A species of barter soon took place between our hero and various old women, who took both pride and pleasure in encouraging the early mercantile propensities of the boy, and foretelling, with their wonted sagacity, “that Magnus Halcro's head wad sune fill a rich man's bonnet.” Hence he had a monopoly of the market in goose pens and other nick-nacks, which were regularly transmuted into hard cash on the annual return of Charlie Chance, the “Elgin packie,” to whom Mansie looked up as to a model of excellence.

But who may describe the rapture with which our hero beheld, for the first time, the dazzling glories of the Kirkwall fair? An interminable vista of booths, laden with the riches of either India—at least so they appeared to him—cloths, silks, prints, pictures, watches, and jewellery; to say nothing of confectionery “stands,” embellished with ducal coronets and royal and imperial crowns. The fervid imagination of Columbus never dreamt of half so much wealth at the capital of the Great Khan, in that terra incognita which was so long the object of his desire: And Magnus resolved to be rich. To this end he solicited and obtained employment, during the fourteen days of his sojourn, from one of the “merchants,” as they are quaintly called,—a burly “brither,” from the west of Fife, who, next to money, loved nothing so well as integrity and rigid attention. The merchant found, in a day or two, the young islander so much after his own heart that he prevailed on him to remain with him.

This was one of the fortunate periods which our hero in after life would always revert to with peculiar satisfaction, inasmuch as under such a master's experience the germs of industry and economy budded, blossomed, and expanded. Years rolled on—the young Orcadian became a complete adept in the mysteries of money-making; his credit was already ample, and his mercantile respectability unimpeachable. His pack was exchanged for a shop; and instead of being exposed to all the inclemencies of an hyperborean winter, he began to taste the luxuries of town life, and even to share in the refinements of his more patrician neighbours, who willingly overlooked his mean origin on account of the more sterling qualities with which he was invested. Many of them, too, had marriageable daughters; and many a winter evening was spent by certain aristocratic dowagers debating an all-important question—namely, Money versus Pedigree. It was always carried in favour of the former, though with great reluctance. Fans were flirtd in anger, and sighs heaved in sorrow, for the good old time, when nothing but hereditary right conferred the rank of gentleman on any individual whatever.

Mr Halcro', however, knew the value of a painfully acquired fortune too well to dissipate it in supporting the freaks and whimsies of—parish to practice, viz., "It is better to be the head o' the commonality than the tail o' the gentry," he wedded a healthy, comely, sweet tempered maiden, whose gratitude for the preference, and good sense displayed in her domestic economy, more than compensated for the want of both rank and fortune.

“A penniless lass wi' a lang pedigree.”
So reducing one of the saws of his native

Hitherto, however, the blind deity had only shed her favours on the head of our hero like dew. She was now determined, in one of her wild freaks, to pour them in torrents—to make him the Rothschild of Thule. Already he had obtained the civic chair; already did his influence predominate in the town-council and through the whole burgh; already had ministerial and opposition candidates "waited" upon the provost, and with problematical humility solicited the honour of his suffrage, with all the et ceteras which are resorted to on these occasions. But all this was nothing to the golden harvest that awaited him. In the autumn of 17—, a large vessel, very richly laden, sailed from a port in the Mediterranean for ———. Month after month elapsed, and no tidings reached her anxious proprietors, and still more anxious freighters. The vessel, in short, was given over for lost; and an enormous sum was paid at Lloyd's to her owners, and to the house to which the cargo belonged. But in place of so much wealth being swallowed up by the devouring ocean, the vessel was stranded on one of the numerous holms, or islets, which skirt the northern extremity of ———; and such was her precious situation, that a more prudent man would scarcely have risked twenty pounds on the speculation; but Mr Halcro' combined enterprise with prudence, and honour with both. He instantly wrote to Lloyd's, describing the true situation of the vessel, the state of her valuable cargo, and the risk and expense of saving both, offering, at the same time, either to purchase the whole concern, or to act as their agent. The directors of the great insurance office preferred the former; and, for a mere nominal sum, our fortunate speculator became possessed of this immense treasure. It was now that Providence smiled on his undertaking. Contrary to the experience of the oldest inhabitants of these dreary regions, the weather continued serene for three or four consecutive weeks, and by that time every fragment of the cargo was secured, and the vessel floated round to a place of safety, where she was repaired, and re-laden at a trifling expense. Soon afterwards she arrived at her original port of destination; where, owing to her untoward passage, her cargo had risen in value at least 50 per cent., which not only defrayed the expense of repairs, furnishings, re-lading, insurance, and incidental sums, but actually left a huge profit.

Thus, by early industry, rigid attention to business, prudence, probity, and a concatenation of fortunate circumstances; the homeless orphan raised himself from the depths of poverty and obscurity, to the very apex of political and commercial greatness—became the founder of a family—and may be held up as a model to all the young aspirants to mercantile celebrity who may chance to read these pages. We cannot do better, in summing up his character, than use the beautiful language of Mr Hall, the amiable editor of the Amulet.

*He was a very old man—and had seen
His children's children flourish as they grow;
Yet strong in mind as he had never been Unworn by fourscore summers—still he drew
The eyes of all men on him; for his fame
Had gone forth to the nations, and his name
Was like himself, time-honoured,—and his look*

Was as the index of some well penned book.

A Daring Craigs woman.

When embarked in Dr Henderson's boat on a calm midsummer day, and I was admiring the magnificent promontory of Clythness, when the doctor bade the rowers stop, and pointing to a small bit of greensward, the size of a pocket handkerchief, some hundred feet above us, enquired whether I could distinguish it. Having ascertained that there was no mistake, he continued: "A few days ago I assisted in rescuing a young oraiswoman from that fearful height. You observe, that down to the patch of greensward, the cliffs, although precipitous, form an acute angle. The woman was alone, and in her eagerness to collect eggs, had the audacity to descend about thirty feet with her face towards the rocks, grasping small projections with her hands, and pressing against the sides with her knees. On reaching the greensward she discovered, to her horror, that the angle ceased, and the cliff became a sheer precipice. What could she do?

A startling question this—involving life or death; and she sat down to consider it. But, once seated, with her face towards the sea, she could not rise again. To return the way she came had become impracticable, and unless help should arrive, she must remain where she was, till from misery and exhaustion she should fall into the water. In this extremity her nerves did not fail her. She retained her self-possession and trust in Providence, hoping against hope. From time to time she gave a shout, but there was no human ear to hear her. Hours passed away, but no deliverance came. Had she continued unobserved until nightfall, she must inevitably have perished. But happily," continued the doctor, "I was that day rowing in this very boat along the coast. It was a dead calm. Suddenly we thought we heard a human voice—a faint cry. Pausing in silence a few moments to listen, we heard the cry a second time. We drew near the crags, and looking up, were able to distinguish, at that dizzy height, what appeared to be a human figure in a sitting posture. To give help from below was impossible. We hurried to the nearest landing, got a stout rope, and scrambled up the footway. On reaching the top we could see nothing of her; but we shouted, and she faintly answered. We let down the rope as nearly as we could guess to the place from which the answer came. The end providentially dropped within her reach. She grasped it; tied it firmly round her waist, and was hauled up, uninjured in mind or body, and, as I hope, not ungrateful for her marvellous deliverance."—Old Times and Distant Places.

Norna: A Shetland Sketch.

THERE died not long ago, in one of these islands, a singular character, who might have sat for the portrait of Norna of Fitful Head; though the web of mystery and sorrow which the "Great Magician" interwove with the history of the latter, is here wanting.

Suneva Renton laid claim to the character of a "wise woman," skilled in medicine and occult science; but especially to the gifts said to be conferred by "Fairy Folk." A midwife by profession, she possessed the reputation of undoubted, unfailing skill, exercised, however, too often without the least spark of human sympathies or kindness. Self-reliance and decision she displayed in abundance, and her experience was unquestionable; and by these she acquired among her countrywomen, and country-men too, if truth must be told, a very singular degree of influence, so that she was consulted till her death, in all sorts of mysterious diseases, or what to the common people appeared such, and that in animals as well as in human beings. But these applications to the "wise woman" were carefully concealed whenever it was possible; and it was a laughable circumstance, that as her nearest neighbour was the minister, whom she considered her worst enemy, persons from distant islands who came to seek her assistance, on inquiring the way to her residence, asked, to deceive the informant, for the Manse, which they as invariably passed to go to the next cottage.

Mother Suneva's knowledge of herbs and simples was extensive, and her applications of them were correct and judicious, which, no doubt, contributed much to her success and reputation; but her charms and incantations were at least as often in request, and more firmly relied on. For example, if a pony were laid aside, in midst of its work, by spavin, she would tie a twisted woollen thread, spun by herself with various spells, round the animal's body, and turn him loose to the hill. For a few days he must not be looked at—or the charm was broken—and then he would be found completely cured.

She was a woman of great strength of body, as well as of mind; of much natural shrewdness also, and sagacity; and she stated her pretensions with a confidence of asseveration—a superiority of language, and a loftiness of manner, which might have indeed befitting her of the Fitful Head, and which easily made her way to the credulity of her equals in birth and education, and left her superiors in doubt, whether she were not herself deceived.

With little of the "milk of human kindness" in her bosom, she ruled her large family, and even her husband, with a rod of iron, and was by them respected and obeyed, with an alacrity and zeal, rarely witnessed in Shetland families of their class, where parental love is exemplary, but filial duty too little cultivated.

The following is our heroine's own account of some of her interviews with the "wise people," and the gifts she received from them. She was sitting alone, on a calm, hazy, summer's day, when a man extremely good-looking, and about thirty years of age, came in, and said, "A woman required her services immediately." She got up and followed him, as soon as she had thrown her shawl around her. She then asked who the person was to whom she was going, but he replied, she would soon see that. In what appeared a very brief space of time, she came to a place she had never seen, and wondered much how such a house had arisen, so near her own residence, without her knowledge. When she entered the house, which was much superior to those she was accustomed to, she met a cousin of her own, whom she had not seen for years, but believed to be dead, and she used the common exclamation, "Gude be near us! Andrew, is this you?" He instantly enjoined her on no account to use the holy name there; and as she valued her life and salvation, not to eat or drink, since then, no evil should harm, or power be of avail to detain her. She was very soon summoned to her patient, and in due time a beautiful young wife was safely delivered of a fair and promising "lad bairn." The man who came for her now brought what appeared to be wine or brandy, and bread, but she steadily refused the offered refreshment; and having given to a female attendant the necessary directions for the treatment of the mother and babe, she proposed to depart. Her cousin led her out, and at the door she found her own pony saddled for her use. The same person accompanied her to her home, and it was night ere she reached it, shivering, hungry, and weary.

On another occasion our favoured acquaintance was travelling alone to visit one of her family who lived at a little distance, when a man like the former met her, and asked her advice respecting some complaint wherewith his wife was afflicted. She told him clearly and promptly what to do, and he requested that she would meet him in the same place in eight days. Thither accordingly mother Suneva repaired, and found the same person waiting her. He informed her his wife was so much the better of the advice he had received, as to be nearly quite well. He said he could not reward her with money, since his would prove of no use to her; but he hung a hair chain around her neck, and assured her she was under the protection of those who could and would assist and befriend her in every undertaking, and that no case of suffering or sickness which she conducted would ever fail of success. Accordingly in touching with an ancient coin for scrofula, "telling away" sprains and bruises in man and beast, as well as curing all diseases incident to both, foretelling the future, and guarding against accidents, she was without a rival, and is now, so far as we are aware, without a successor. We would fain hope the day is past, for other Norna's to arise, even in these remote and neglected isles.

To the above sketch of this singular individual, it may be added, that she was very handsome, indeed a beautiful woman, of majestic height and fine proportions. She had large piercing and intelligent dark eyes; in her youth her hair was raven black, and her complexion rich and glowing. Her last, indeed only illness, was that of old age; for though she had not exceeded the ordinary allotted span of human existence, her constitution was worn down by the fatigue and exposure incident to her mode of life. Her religious views, strange to say, were singularly correct and evangelical in theory—in practice she was too much of the pharisee. Not a doctrine, or a duty, or a sentiment could be mentioned in her hearing, but she knew—had practised, or responded to it. She retained the full possession of all her faculties, and the last breath that trembled on her lips, was an aspiration for mercy—not unnecessarily surely, if we consider the delusions she practised so long and so undauntedly, and the evils arising to the deceived votaries whom she misled to believe and confide in them.—From "Sketches and Tales of Shetland."

THE GREATEST MAN.

THE greatest man is he who chooses the right with invincible resolution; who resists the sorest temptations from within and without; who bears the heaviest burden cheerfully; who is the calmest in storms; and whose reliance on faith, on virtue, and on heaven, is most unflinching.

LET NOT TRIFLES DAUNT YOU.

NEVER be cast down by trifles. If a spider breaks his web twenty times, twenty times will he mend it. Make up your mind to do a thing, and you will do it. Fear not if trouble come upon you: keep up your spirits, though the day may be a dark one.

FITFUL HEAD, SHETLAND.

Historical Chronological Table from "The Orkneyinga Saga."

795—First appearance of the Norse Vikings in the Western Seas. They plunder the Isle of Ræchrin.

798—Invasion of the Isle of Man by the Norsemen, Inispatrick burned.

802—I Columbkil burned by the Norsemen.

806—I Columbkil again plundered by the Norsemen, and sixty-eight men of the monastery slain.

807—First invasion of the mainland of Ireland by the Norsemen.

815—Turgesius (Thorkel ?), chief of the invading Northmen, establishes himself as king of the foreigners in Ireland, making Armagh the capital of the kingdom.

824—Bangor, in the north of Ireland, the seat of the monastery of St Comhgall, burned, and the bishop and clergy slain by the Northmen.

843—Union of the Picts and Scots under Kenneth M'Alpin, founder of the Scottish dynasty.

853—Arrival of Olaf the White in Ireland. He seizes Dublin, establishes himself there as king, makes an expedition to Scotland, and besieges and takes Dumbarton.

872—Harald Harfagri becomes sole King of Norway; makes an expedition against the western Vikings, who have established their viking station in Orkney, drives them from their haunts, and subdues Shetland, Orkney, the Hebrides, and Man. He gives Orkney and Shetland, as an earldom of Norway, to Rognvald, Earl of Mœri, father of Hrolf (Bollo), the conqueror of Normandy.

875—Earl Sigurd Eysteinson, who had received the earldom of Orkney from his brother Rognvald, Earl of Mœri, forms an alliance with Thorstein the Red, son of Olaf the White, King of Dublin. They invade the northern mainland of Scotland, and subdue Caithness and Sutherland as far as Ekkialsbakki. Thorstein the Red is shortly afterwards killed in Caithness; and Earl Sigurd dies, and is buried under a cairn at Ekkialsbakki.

893—Einar (Torf Einar) slays Halfdan Halegg, one of the sons of Harald Harfagri, and buries him under a cairn in North Ronaldsay.

933—Death of Harald Harfagri. Eirik Bloodyaxe, his son, becomes King of Norway. About this time the name "Scotia" and "Scotland," previously applied to Ireland, is first given to North Britain, which had formerly been called Caledonia, Pictavia, or Alban.

950—Fall of King Eirik Bloodyaxe, and of Arnkel and Erlend, sons of Torf Einar, and Earls of Orkney, in battle in England.

963—Thorfinn Hausakliuf Earl of Orkney. The sons of Eirik Bloodyaxe arrive in Orkney.

980—Sigurd Hlodverson becomes Earl of Orkney.

983—I Columbkil plundered by the Norsemen, and the abbot and fifteen of the clerics slain.

992—Olaf Tryggvi's son, while on a roving expedition, is baptised by a hermit in the Scilly Isles.

995—Olaf Tryggvi's son becomes King of Norway, and immediately establishes Christianity by the strong hand. Returning from a western cruise, on his way to Norway he finds Earl Sigurd Hlodverson by chance at Osmondwall in the Orkneys, and obliges him to profess Christianity, and to promise to establish the true faith in the Orkneys.

1000—Fall of King Olaf Tryggvi's son at the battle of Swalder in Norway.

1014—Battle of Clontarf, near Dublin, in which Sigurd Hlodverson, Earl of Orkney, fell. Thorfinn, his son, is made Earl of Caithness and Sutherland by Malcolm II., K. of Scots, his maternal grandfather.

1015—Olaf Haraldson (afterwards St Olaf) becomes King of Norway.

1018—Battle of Ulfreksford, in which Eir Einar is vanquished by Eyvind Urahorn and King Conchobhar.

1019—Einar (Wrymouth), Earl of Orkney, slain by Thorkel Fostri at Sandwick, in Deerness, Orkney.

1020—The Earls Thorfinn and Brusi acknowledge the suzerainty of King Olaf the Holy over the Orkneys.

1023—Olaf the Holy driven from Norway by Canute the Great, King of England and Denmark.

1030—Fall of King Olaf the Holy at the battle of Stiklestad.

1034—Death of Malcolm II., King of Scots. According to the Saga, "Kali Hundason takes the kingdom," and, according to the Scottish historians, Duncan I. succeeds to the throne in Scotland. Mission of Einar Thambar-skelfir and Kalf Arnson to Russia to offer their aid to Magnus, son of King Olaf the Holy, to obtain the throne of Norway.

1035—Magnus the Good, son of Olaf Haraldson (the Holy), succeeds to the throne of Norway, and Rognvald Brusi becomes Earl of Orkney.

1039—Duncan I., King of Scots, slain by Macbeth, who becomes king.

1047—Magnus the Good dies in Denmark, and is succeeded by Harald Sigurdson, surnamed Haradradi.

1050—Einar Thambarskelfir and the sons of Endridi slain in Norway by Harald Haradradi.

1054—Machbeth defeated by Malcolm (Canmore), son of Duncan.

1057—Malcolm Canmore crowned at Scone.

This last is the kirk-officer, who serves the parish in the different capacities of beadle, sexton, cooper, slater, plasterer, boat-beater, gardener, kelper, mason, quarryman, labourer, thatcher, and farmer, and the most fortunate begetter of boys of any in the parish, for his wife bore him three at one birth, and most of his children are boys.

Very few in this parish exceed the age of 80, and only one person has been known to arrive at 90 years.

Here are no Seceders nor Dissenters of any kind.—Three suicides have been committed within these few years: One by a young woman, after a long fit of deep melancholy, from what cause is not known; another by an elderly woman, during a lowness of spirits, occasioned by a lingering fever; and the third by a young man, in the height of a nervous fever. Hanging was the death those unfortunate persons made choice of.

The advantages of this parish are fire, water, and fine women; notwithstanding which, most of the heritors reside at a distance, and leave their tenants to the mercy of factors, and under agents, who, besides the services payable to their masters, require many others, under the denomination of favours, which, like Harry VIII.'s benevolences, they dare not refuse. But it is to be hoped, that Mr Honyman of Græmsay, whose mind is enlightened by southern ideas, will redress those grievances, will abolish personal services, will grant long leases to his tenants, and encourage them to improve their farms; whereby he will render his people happy, his family respected, and gain to himself immortal honour; whilst his conduct, at the same time, will be an example to others, which they will be proud to imitate.

In the churchyard are the remains of an ancient building, called the Girth-house, to which great antiquity is ascribed. It is a rotundo of 18 feet in diameter, and 20 feet high; open at top; and on the east side is a vaulted concavity, where probably the altar stood, with a slit in the wall to admit the light; two-thirds of it have been taken down to repair the parish church. The walls are thick, and consist of stones, strongly cemented with lime. From its resemblance to the Pantheon, some have ascribed this building to the Romans; but, probably, it has been a Popish chapel, dedicated to some favourite saint.

Cup Divination and Pyromancy in Shetland.

IT was a maxim with the nations of antiquity, that if there are gods, they care for men, and if they care for men they must be desirous to impart a knowledge of future events, because, by this means, man would know how to obtain the good and avoid the evil; but the great difficulty lay in the question, how to find suitable vehicles of communication by which the gods might be propitiated to vouchsafe to men this needed knowledge.

The ancient Chaldeans sought in the starry heavens to know the fate of nations and of individuals; and the middle ages, for the same purpose, looked in Auguries and Auspices.

There was Azinomancy, the art of discovering the perpetration of a crime, by poisoning an axe on the top of a pole, and judging of guilt or innocence by the direction in which it fell. Belomancy, shooting with arrows. Bibliomancy, opening the Bible and observing the first passage which occurred. Botanomancy, divination by plants and flowers. Capnomancy, divination by smoke. Cheiro-mancy, reading the lineaments of the hand. Cosinomancy, divination by using a sieve and pair of shears. Crystallomancy, divination by crystals or precious stones. Cup divination, cup reading. Geomancy, divination by pebbles. Hydromancy, divination by water, or by a mirror. Lithomancy, divination by stones. Onciromancy, divination by dreams. Pyromancy, divination by fire. Rabdomancy, divination by the divining rod, &c. A strange list of delusions, indeed, we may now say; and equally strange it is that so many of them have come down to our own day, it being within the author's memory when Bibliomancy, Cheiro-mancy, Botanomancy, Cosinomancy, Cup divination, Onciromancy, and Pyromancy were all practised in the Shetland Islands, at least to such an extent as renders it easy to identify each particular superstition with its more elaborate prototype.

Cup divination by the ancients was a more aristocratic performance than its more modern disciples could attain to. The former placed precious stones, with inscriptions on them, upon gold leaf, and dropped them into water contained in a glass cup, and read the signs on its surface; while the latter used a stone-ware cup and a few tea grounds, forming pictures by the fortuitous arrangement of stalks and broken leaf. The author has often had these pointed out and explained to him by an expert; and by a little help of the imagination, wonderful pictures they make of things both animate and inanimate. In foretelling events by the aid of those pictures, the order of time is reckoned from the brim of the cup downwards, the brim being the present, the bottom the distant future, and the scale being days, months, or years, according as the nature of the case requires. The author is bound to say that he has known many wonderful predictions by cup diviners followed by as wonderful fulfilments.

PYROMANCY, or divination by fire was common amongst the Greeks and Romans.

In offering sacrifices to the gods, the manner in which the victim was consumed was held to prognosticate good or evil. If the sacrifice burned clear of smoke and did not crackle, the omen was favourable, but otherwise it was not.

In Shetland, pyromancy was closely allied to cup reading—half consumed brands taking the place of tea grounds. When a peat fire is nearly consumed, some of the brands often remain standing in an upright position in the light white ashes by which they are surrounded. And it was the fancied resemblance which those brands bore to persons, animals, ships, &c., which furnished the fire reader with the means of foretelling events. One solitary upright brand, resembling a man or woman, was always called a "guest," i.e., a stranger or visitor from a distance. If it could be guessed who the person might be, and if welcome, the brand was lifted in the tongs and placed in the centre of the fire, and other brands heaped around it; but if the person was looked upon as an intruder, the brand was dipped in a tub of water, so that the individual represented might get a drenching of rain if he or she attempted the journey.

SHETLAND fishermen, in common with many of their brethren elsewhere, believe that in going to the fishing if they meet certain persons they will have luck, and if they meet others, the very reverse will happen; hence all their acquaintance come to be divided into lucky and unlucky people.—Shetland Fireside Tales.

SIMPLE

Directions for the Homœopathic Treatment of Common Complaints.

By J. C. POTTAGE,

Homœopathic Chemist,

117 PRINCES STREET, EDINBURGH, AND 122 BUCHANAN STREET, GLASGOW.

THESE directions are issued in the belief that many persons suffer from serious and troublesome complaints, in consequence of neglecting slight ailments that might readily be removed by adopting the following simple remedies.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS.

The dose, for an adult, is two pilules, or one or two drops of tincture in a dessert-spoonful of water. For children, a mixture should be made of two drops, or four pilules, in a table-spoonful of water; a teaspoonful of the mixture to be given to a child from 3 to 10 years of age, and half a tea-spoonful to an infant.

The frequency of repeating the medicine must entirely depend upon the nature of the complaint; if it be of long standing, twice to three times a day is sufficient, but if recent, at intervals of one to four hours, according to the severity of the symptoms.

COUGH

Should never be neglected, as it often terminates in some more serious and complicated complaint.

Cough.—Hard, dry, tickling in the throat.—Aconite and Bryonia, alternately every two hours.

Cough.—Convulsive, hard, dry, worse at night, with sore throat.—Belladonna in alternation with Merc. Sol. every two hours.

Cough.—Moist, arising from exposure to wet.—Dulcamara, a dose four times daily.

Cough.—With Indigestion.—Nux Vomica and Pulsatilla in alternation every three hours.

Cough.—With hoarseness, loss of voice, consumptive coughs.—Phosphorus and Kali Bichromas, time about every three hours.

Cough.—In children.—Chamomilla and Cina alternately every three hours.

Cough.—Whooping.—Drosera, Spongia, and Ipecacuanha, in alternation. See Euddock's Vade Mecum.

Cough.—Whooping, threatening suffocation.—Ipecacuanha, every hour and a half.

COLD IN THE HEAD.

Cold in the Head.—As soon as any chilliness is felt, a few doses of the Concentrated Solution of Camphor, taken at intervals of half an hour, will frequently terminate it.

Cold in the Head, with feverish symptoms, chills followed by heats.—Aconitum, a dose every half hour.

Cold in the Head, with copious thin discharge, excoriation of the parts, loss of strength.—Arsenicum and Kali Bichromas, in alternation every hour.

Cold in the Head, with frequent sneezing, discharge from the nose, perspiration.—Mercurius in alternation with Pulsatilla.

Cold in the Head, with loss of taste and smell, offensive discharge from the nose.—Pulsatilla alternately with Kali Bichromas every two hours.

Cold in the Head, with stuffing in the head, headache.—Nux Vomica and Belladonna alternately every half hour.

Cold in the Head from exposure to wet.—Dulcamara and Gelsemium alternately every hour and a half.

SORE THROAT.

Sore Throat, with dryness and redness, difficulty of swallowing.—Belladonna and Merc. Sol. in alternation every hour.

Sore Throat.—Clergyman's.—China and Hepar Sulph. time about every three hours.

Sore Throat, with flow of saliva, swollen or ulcerated tonsils.—Mercurius and Arsenicum alternately every hour.

Sore Throat, with feverishness, thirst, heat, pricking in the throat.—Aconitum and Phytolacca in alternation every half hour.

Sore Throat, with hoarseness.—Hepar Sulph. and Spongia in alternation every two hours.

Sore Throat.—Chronic.—Carbo Veg. and Arsenicum in alternation every four hours.

Sore Throat.—Putrid, with great prostration of strength.—Arsenicum and Iodium in alternation every hour.

NOTE.—Apply a cold-water bandage to the throat, covered with oiled silk, at bed time, and keep it on until the morning. Then sluice the throat with Condry's Fluid and Water. The inhalation of steam will frequently give relief to pain in the throat.

HEADACHE.

Headache, with fullness, pressure, and heaviness on the forehead and over the eye balls, throbbing in the temples; also when increased by light and noise.—Belladonna and Merc. Sol. in alternation every hour.

Headache, with pains on one side of the head, worse on movement, constipation, rheumatic headache.—Bryonia and Gelseminum alternately every hour.

Headache, with disordered digestion, giddiness, pain over the eyes, either when caused by sedentary habits, or stimulants.—Nux Vomica and Sulphur alternately every two hours.

Headache, with vomiting of food and bilious matter.—Ipecacuanha and Pulsatilla alternately every half hour.

Headache, from eating rich food, nausea or vomiting, heaviness in the head.—Pulsatilla and Carbo Veg. time about every hour.

Headache, violent stupefying, compressive pains.—Gelseminum in alternation with Opium every hour.

Headache, nervous, one-sided, with pain as if a nail were driven into the head.—Ignatia and Arsenicum time about every hour.

CONFINED BOWELS.

Constipation, with indigestion, headache, ineffectual straining, tendency to piles from sedentary life, or abuse of intoxicating liquors.—Nux Vomica and Lycopodium time about every two hours.

Constipation, with disordered stomach, headache, especially in summer, and in persons subject to rheumatism.—Bryonia and Pulsatilla time about every hour.

Constipation, with drowsiness, oppressive headache, and in aged persons.—Opium and Coffea in alternation four times daily.

Constipation, habitual, with tendency to piles.—Nux Vomica and Sulphur in alternation every three hours.

Constipation, obstinate. — Lycopodium and Æsculus Hippo. time about every four hours.

Constipation, with colic, and tendency to paralysis.—Plumbum and Belladonna time about every two hours.

NOTE.—Drink a tumbler of cold water every morning on rising; take daily exercise, light and digestible food; fruits and vegetables in moderation; brown bread may also be used with advantage.

DIARRHŒA.

CAUSES.—Excessive or indigestible food, unripe fruit, atmospheric changes.

Diarrhœa.—At the outset, with shivering, coldness, cramps.—Concentrated Solution of Camphor ten drops every quarter of an hour.

Diarrhœa, with griping, straining, greenish, bilious, or slimy motions.—Mercurius and Pulsatilla time about every hour and a half.

Diarrhœa, with bilious vomiting.—Bryonia in alternation with Mercurius Sol. every half hour.

Diarrhœa, in the summer.—Bryonia and Arsenicum every hour.

Diarrhœa, with watery or slimy motions, especially in children.—Chamomilla and Arsenicum every half hour.

Diarrhœa, with heat internally, coldness of the body, great prostration.—Arsenicum and Gelseminum ever quarter of an hour alternately.

Diarrhœa, from indigestion, pastry, or rich food.—Pulsatilla every hour.

Diarrhœa, from cold, especially in the summer or autumn.—Dulcamara and Gelseminum time about every half hour.

Diarrhœa, with cutting, griping pains, cramps.—Veratrum and Colocynth every quarter of an hour alternately.

INDIGESTION.

SYMPTOMS.—Fullness and pressure in the stomach, sour risings, nausea or vomiting, headache, flatulence, impaired appetite.

Indigestion, with pressure in the stomach, bitter risings, costiveness, or tendency to piles; either from sedentary habits or excess in eating and drinking.—Nux Vomica and Podophyllin time about every two hours.

Indigestion, with aversion to food, costiveness, irritable temper, in bilious or rheumatic persons, in summer or damp weather.—Bryonia and Dulcamara time about every three hours.

Indigestion, in women, or in persons of a mild disposition, either caused by eating rich food, or by diarrhœa.—Pulsatilla and Carbo Veg. time about every two hours.

Indigestion, with unpleasant taste in the morning, desire for cool things.—Mercurius Sol. and Arsenicum time about every two hours.

Indigestion, with sickness.—Ipecacuanha every hour.

Indigestion. — Chronic. — Hepar Sulph. and Arsenicum time about every four hours.

NOTE.—Rise early, take daily exercise, plain and wholesome diet, and avoid excess in eating and drinking.

Rock-Bound: A Story of the Shetland Isles.

BY JESSIE M. SAXBY.

Just Published. Second Edition. Revised. Price 1s in Paper; Cloth Limp, 1s 6d; Cloth Gilt, 2s.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"There is a firmness of hand in the tale which gives it strength. The story is worth any number of the ordinary novels of the day."—Scotsman, July 3, 1877.

"Mrs Saxby has succeeded in rendering into literature something of the true Shetland feeling. We heartily commend the little volume."—Edinburgh Daily Review.

"The volume is a delightful one."—John O'Groat Journal, July 19, 1877.

"A capital Shetland story, written by an enthusiastic lover of Shetland. We warmly commend it to readers generally, and northerners in particular."—Northern Ensign.

"This tale carries a peculiar interest along with it."—Aberdeen Journal, July 28.

"This is Mrs Saxby's most successful tale."—Orkney Herald, August 1.

"In these days of rubbish in 3 vols., we must be thankful for this wholesome unaffected tale."—Lloyds' Weekly London News, Sept. 16, 1877.

"Mrs Saxby has given us a charming little story of life 'in the far, far north.' She carries us to scenes even deeper within the shadow of the Arctic night than those to which Mr Black introduced us in his 'Princess of Thule,' and if it cannot be said that she possesses Mr Black's unique powers of description, it is nevertheless the simple truth that she has a very real power of her own, which enables her to invest common-place people and scenes and incidents with the glamour of romance."—Leeds Mercury, August, 8, 1877.

"The scene of this strangely-fascinating tale is laid in Vaalafiel, one of the 'melancholy isles of furthest Thule.' . . . The authoress is very happy in her descriptions of Shetland scenery, and of the primitive habits of the peasantry of Vaalafiel and the neighbouring island; and she is scarcely less so in her character-drawing."—London Daily Chronicle, August 20, 1877.

Naala Mist: Or Stories of Shetland.

BY JESSIE M. SAXBY, WITH PICTURES BY JOHN T. REID.

Crown 8vo. Cloth Extra. Price 5s.

EDINBURGH: ANDREW ELLIOT, and all Booksellers.

"This is a book we can most strongly recommend. . . . Full of adventures, and interesting information regarding the natural scenery of Shetland, and the customs of the people."—Scottish Congregational Magazine.

"This is a book for all seasons—for summer days, and winter nights. . . . The authoress is at home with nature, and with human nature especially, as it appears round the shores and in the dwellings of the northern archipelago. Its 'get up' is all that taste could desire, and the numerous illustrations add to it an additional charm."—Northern Ensign.

"Mrs Saxby writes with an ease and gracefulness which cannot fail to render the stories interesting and attractive reading."—Shetland Times.

"A capital collection of stories of Shetland."—Edinburgh Courant.

"Mrs Saxby's volume will be a favourite with all young people, and it is in addition deserving of some amount of careful study by those who have long ceased to be young."—Scotsman.

The One Wee Lassie.

BY JESSIE M. SAXBY.

16mo. Cloth Extra, Price 1s 6d; Paper Covers, 1s.

EDINBURGH: ANDREW ELLIOT, and all Booksellers.

"This record of a Christian child's life is singularly beautiful in its exquisite simplicity and grace."

"A touching and sweet little story."—John O'Groat Journal.

"Soothing thoughts for mourning parents, which occupy several pages at the end of the book, have a general application, and are very feelingly written."—Literary World.

"There is not a line of prose or verse in the book which is not instinct with genuine feeling."—Scotsman.

THE "GLYCERINE DIP."

(HARDWICKE, GUERIN & CO.'S.)

THIS Non-poisonous DIP is a certain Preventative and Cure of Scab, and is unrivalled for the complete destruction of Ticks, Lice and Parasites of every description infesting the Skins of Sheep, Cattle, and other animals. It has gained a high reputation, for it possesses the double advantage of simultaneously repelling Contagion and cleansing the Skin from filth. It does not Discolour or act injuriously upon the natural Yolk of the Wool, but Feeds the Fleece, maintains the natural lustre, and wonderfully promotes its Growth. This is the only Dip, the effect of which is to Waterproof the Fleece, rendering it in a great measure impermeable to wind and rain.

This Machine was Awarded
THE ONLY

Silver Medal

For Small Thrashing Machines.

AT THE Highland & Agricultural Society's Show,
ABERDEEN,
1876.

THE great success of the above Thrasher is unprecedented and unequalled. For speed and clean work, economy of labour, and easy driving, combined with strength and durability, it is unrivalled. EXAMPLE—One man, without any assistance, can with this Machine, in 1 hour, thrash 8 Bushels of ordinary Corn; and two men will easily double that quantity.

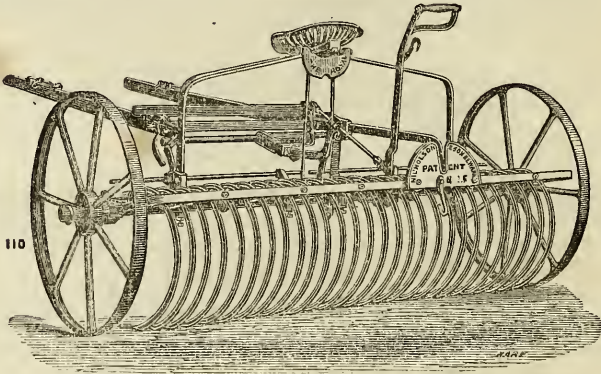

KNOCKENBAIRD, Dec. 21, 1876.

GENTLEMEN,—I have pleasure in testifying that your Advance Thrasher is working excellently, is very light to drive, and capable of great speed. I can put through the Machine in one hour 20 stooks, which would be 2 qrs. ordinary corn—the half of which, I think, would be very good,

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

Impurity of the Blood.

These Pills have been placed by the common consent of all nations at the head of all remedies, for purifying the blood and cleansing all the tissues of the body. They have saved thousands, year after year, from falling a sacrifice to disorders of the stomach, dysentery, diarrhoea, constipation, liver complaints, etc.; a fact attested by myriads of witnesses. Excessive weakness and debility are overcome, and every organ throughout the system is re-animated with vigour, and a healthful action by this restorative and exhilarating medicine.

The Female's Best Friend.

No medicine can be so infallibly relied upon for removing all obstructions as these Pills. They never fail to restore a healthy action throughout the system.

Holloway's Pills soon change the sickly and sallow complexion, thus renewing the bloom of health. To females entering into womanhood, or at the turn of life, these Pills will be found invaluable. They should be taken two or three times a week as a safeguard against dropsy, headaches, palpitation of the heart, and all nervous affections, so distressing at certain periods.

All Disorders affecting the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, and Bowels.

These Pills can be confidently recommended as the most simple and certain remedy for indigestion, flatulency, acidity, heartburn, colic, constipation, and all the many maladies resulting from disordered stomach or bowels. These Pills are purifiers, alteratives, and strengtheners of the stomach. They may be taken under any circumstances. Though powerfully tonic, and satisfactorily aperient, they are mild in their operation and beneficial to the whole system.

Influenza, Diphtheria, Bronchitis, Coughs, and Colds.

In our changeable climate few persons escape without coughs or colds, sore throats, influenza, diphtheria, or bronchitis, for all of which these famous corrective Pills may be taken with a certainty of effecting a cure.

The Pills and Ointment are sold at Professor HOLLOWAY'S Establishment, 533, Oxford Street, London, also by nearly every respectable Vendor of Medicine throughout the Civilised World, in Boxes and Pots, at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., 11s., 22s., and 33s. each. The smallest Box of Pills contains four dozen; and the smallest Pot of Ointment one ounce.

Full printed directions are affixed to each Box and Pot, and can be had in any language.

N.B.—Advice can be obtained, free of charge, by applying at the above address, daily, between the hours of 11 and 4, or by letter.

The effect of this Ointment on the System.

To the very core of all diseases which effect the human body, this remarkable preparation penetrates. It disappears under the friction of the hand as salt does when rubbed upon meat. Simple eruptions, open sores, tumours, scrofulous developments, abscesses, old wounds, or in fact every species of inflammation or suppuration, whether in the skin, the flesh, the glands, or among the muscles, can be arrested in its destructive course and permanently cured without danger by the application of this inestimable ointment.

Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Diphtheria, and all derangements of the Throat and Chest.

Upon the appearance of any of these maladies, the ointment should be well rubbed, for at least half an hour twice a day, upon the neck and upper part of the chest so as to penetrate to the glands, this course will at once remove inflammation and ulceration. The worst cases by following the printed directions will yield to this treatment.

Old Sores, Skin Diseases, Scrofula and Scurvy.

The seeds of these disorders are effectually expelled by this penetrating unguent, not only from the superficial parts but from the internal tissues likewise. Any case, even if of twenty years' standing, speedily yields to its influence.

Bad Legs, Ulcers, Sores, and Bad Breasts.

No description of wound, sore, or ulcer, can resist the healing properties of this excellent ointment. The worst cases speedily assume a healthy appearance whenever this medicament is applied; sound flesh springs up from the bottom of the wound, inflammation of the surrounding skin is arrested, and a complete and permanent cure quickly follows.

The Ointment and Pills are sold at Professor HOLLOWAY'S Establishment, 533, Oxford Street, London; also by nearly every respectable Vendor of Medicine throughout the Civilised World, in Pots and Boxes, at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., 11s., 22s., and 33s. each. The smallest Pot of Ointment contains one ounce; and the smallest Box of Pills four dozen.

Full printed directions are affixed to each Pot and Box, and can be had in any language.

Hand-Book to the Orkney Islands.

ILLUSTRATED.

"It is well-written, well-printed, and not too bulky for a guide."—Scotsman.

"This is a convenient little volume devoted to the Orkney Islands. It tells us of their history, antiquities, trade, manners, &c., and is interesting to the general reader as well as the tourist, for whom it is specially designed."—Inverness Courier.

"This is one of the most interesting and instructive books of its class that has ever passed through our hands. It is at once a succinet history, and a charming description of Orkney, containing the essentials of a portable 'guide.'"—Forres Gazette.

"A compact, well-written, and comprehensive Hand-Book to the Orkney Islands has just been published by Mr Peace, Kirkwall. It supplies a want that must have been often felt by tourists and visitors to these interesting islands, who frequently miss opportunities of seeing places and objects of interest, simply for the want of a properly systematised guide-book to remind them of their proximity at the proper time. The Hand-Book devotes considerable space to the antiquities of the islands, and the historical portions are succinctly but spiritedly written."—John O'Groat Journal.

"Peace's Hand-Book to the Orkney Islands.—This is the title of a really admirable production, neatly got up, and admirably printed on excellent paper. The literary matter in all respects justifies the title, and makes this neat little Hand-Book both useful and attractive."—Northern Ensign.

Hand-Book to the Shetland Islands.

WITH MAP AND ILLUSTRATIONS.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

“ Mr William Peace, of Kirkwall, has issued a Hand-Book to the Shetland Islands. Tourists are pushing farther and farther to the North, and it may be hoped that some of them may be induced to visit Shetland and Orkney, where most certainly they will find much that will deeply interest them. They could not have better help in their work of seeing the country than will be afforded them by this guide-book.”—Scotsman.

“ The most cursory glance at the contents of the little volume will show the reader how much there is of novelty and interest in the situation and configuration of the Shetland Isles. A look even at the illustrations will suffice for that purpose. It is questionable whether, under the wide canopy of heaven, there is anywhere else such magnificent scenery as presented by the bold precipitous rocks on some parts of the Shetland coast. There are various singular customs and usages in Shetland, which render the manners of the people not less worthy of study than the topography. In these respects the new Hand-Book is a convenient and intelligent guide.”—Daily Review.

“ A Hand-book to the Shetland Islands has just been published—a volume of 113 pages, with map and 17 illustrations—and the little work is highly creditable to the press of Mr William Peace, Kirkwall, and to the anonymous author of the descriptions, who displays taste and talent, and that love of his subject—that strong local attachment which gives a zest and originality to his pages.”—Inverness Courier.

“ This well-got-up little work will be of invaluable service to the numerous tourists who now yearly visit the Shetland Islands. It is intelligently and systematically arranged, and the historical part displays no little research. In order that the more interesting and romantic district may be overtaken within a brief space of time, the author sketches out five excursions which may be made from Lerwick. There are numerous illustrations interspersed throughout the work, and altogether it will be found to be a valuable addition to our guide books.”—Aberdeen Herald.

“ A neat and excellent Hand-book to the Shetland Islands, comprising upwards of 113 pages of descriptive letter-press, with a well-executed map of the island group, and several illustrations of the scenery, antiquities, &c. It contains notes of the several places of interest to the tourist, the broughs, camps, chapels, tumuli, and memorial stones, with descriptive accounts of the several islands, the scenery, fisheries, agriculture, &c. Altogether, it is a very serviceable hand-book, and the visitor to Shetland would do well to make it his first purchase on his way northwards.”—John O'Groat Journal.

The Treasury of Sacred Song :

A Selection of upwards of 300 of the Finest Ancient and Modern Hymns, many of them Copyright.

Edited by the REV. DAVID WEBSTER, KIRKWALL.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

“ Mr Webster has brought together nearly 300 hymns in this little book, and has shown sound judgment and good taste in the selection. He found no collection of hymns altogether suitable for Evangelistic Meetings and Sabbath Schools, and has accordingly compiled a hymnal which he can with more confidence put in the hands of young and old. The object has been to include as many of the gems of our sacred lyrics as possible, and to exclude all which, however popular, are objectionable in point of diction or good taste. Mr Webster has fairly succeeded, and we have no doubt his collection will be used beyond the coasts of Orkney.”—Daily Review.

“ The Rev. Mr Webster, believing that the hymn-books generally used in Sabbath Schools are of too juvenile a character for a school composed to a great extent of young men and women, has compiled the ‘ Treasury of Sacred Song,’ chiefly with a view to the Editor’s own Sabbath School and Evangelistic Services in the neighbourhood. Much taste and care have been displayed in the selections he has made, and many of the original hymns possess much poetical merit. . . . The ‘ Treasury’ is well got up, and reflects infinite credit on the Kirkwall press. This neat little work will, we are sure, be found useful to many beyond the locality for which it has been specially prepared.”—Elgin Courier.

“ Several collections of hymns have one time and another passed through our hands. For years we have been in the habit of devoting Sunday evening to the reading aloud of sacred poetry. The more importance, therefore, should perhaps be attached to the opinion which we express when we aver that the ‘ Treasury of Sacred Song’ will not suffer by comparison, whatever it may gain, with similar compilations. Although we have subjected it to a somewhat strict examination—having faithfully read the 293 hymns of which it consists—we are happy to be able to state that we have not found in Mr Webster’s ‘ Treasury’ any base coin, or even coin of inferior value. . . . To succeed in a task of this kind the compiler must possess a well-balanced—and informed—mind ; must have a fine ear for music, and genuine sympathy with poetical compositions ; literary taste and spiritual discernment, growing out of Christian experience, thorough knowledge of the Scriptures and the system of religion therein revealed, as well as of human nature in its needs, aspirations, hopes, fears, temptations, and afflictions. Now, judging from what he has done in the small volume under review, we hesitate not to affirm that Mr Webster has all these qualifications in a high degree ; and we doubt not but that the ‘ Treasury of Sacred Song,’ which, so far as its get-up is concerned, reflects credit upon Printer and Publisher, will win its way in and around Kirkwall—the place of its birth—and do much to render the Sabbath Schools and Devotional Meetings, into which it may be introduced, interesting and effective.”—Irish Temperance League Journal.

Summers and Winters in the Orkneys.

By DANIEL GORRIE.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"Mr Gorrie has written one of the most sensible and useful books of the kind that we have for some time met with."—British Quarterly Review.

"Either as a manual or memorial of travel, Mr Gorrie's book will be found equally useful and agreeable."—Athenæum.

"'Summers and Winters in the Orkneys' is a very satisfactory little volume."—Saturday Review.

"This book gives an interesting account of Orkney, which although forming part of the United Kingdom, is yet sufficiently foreign in manners, history, and climate to excite a feeling of strangeness. Mr Gorrie describes with much spirit the pomp and the cruelty of the iniquitous Patrick Stewart."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"The successive chapters are full of information for all classes of readers—the tourist, the antiquarian, the student of natural history in all its branches, the agriculturist, the trader, the social reformer, and the ecclesiastic. There is often a quiet humour about the descriptions, giving zest and flavour to the humblest subjects."—Daily Review.

"Seldom has it been our good fortune to read a book of travel that yielded us a greater amount of pleasure than the one the title of which stands at the head of this article. We closed the book with our head stored with the facts, and our heart full of gratitude for the literary treat with which Mr Gorrie has favoured us."—Cook's Excursionist.

"The book is full of entertaining matter, of curious customs, local peculiarities, and historic memorials. Mr Gorrie is likewise an enthusiastic admirer of nature, and his descriptions of scenery are exceedingly poetical and never too high-flown. A pleasanter or better-written work we have not come across for a very long time."—Daily Telegraph.

"We are indebted to Mr Daniel Gorrie for one of the most interesting and agreeable books of its kind we have read for some time. The volume is full of information conveyed in graceful, unpretending style, and rich with passages of description which are as animated as they are accurate. He has the whole history, poetry, legendary lore, and romance of the islands and their rocks and seas all by heart. . . . Some of the descriptions are really excellent."—Morning Star.

"As we shall have again to refer to weather topics, we shall quit the subject for the present, and begin our examination of Mr Gorrie's interesting and unpretending book on the Orkney Islands. . . . The bottle-nosed or ca'ing whale is a frequent visitor to the bays of the Orkneys, and Mr Gorrie gives a spirited description of one of these whale hunts. For the account of the chase we must refer our readers to the book, in which, moreover, they will find a considerable amount of information concerning other Orcadian topics to which our limits have prevented us from referring."—Times.

SHETLAND FIRESIDE TALES;

OR,

The Hermit of Trosswickness.

A ROMANTIC LOVE STORY OF LAST CENTURY:
With Tales, Legends, and Traditions of the Islands.

BY A NATIVE AUTHOR.

“Many of the stories weird and strange.”—Ayr Observer.

“Describes in a simple and interesting manner the perils and pleasures of life in Shetland.”—Edinburgh Courant.

“Full of interest, and many of them very fascinating. The author's notes on the folklore of Shetland form an important contribution to this department of literature.”—Sunderland Times.

“To Shetlanders, anywhere and everywhere, this work must be refreshing. The native of this northern island who fails to procure a copy of these tales neglects to cultivate his own happiness.”—Leith Burghs Pilot.

“That the work has been a labour of love to the author is evident, and his command and knowledge of the dialect something wonderful. We can commend the book to the hearty notice of our readers, and feel sure that any Shetlander who takes it up will be disinclined to put it down again until he has finished it.”—Shetland Times.

“This book is what it professes to be, a series of fireside stories, illustrative of Shetland manners and superstitions; these are told in an easy, simple, and pleasing style.”—Aberdeen Free Press.

“Free from many faults which find their way into works of some of our great novelists.”—Orkney Herald.

“Contain an amount of real human interest, far greater than is ordinarily to be found in books of stories.”—Scotsman.

“The author of the tales has conferred a benefit, not only on the northern home of his youth, but on all who can enjoy a well told tale, by the publication of this interesting collection of stories of the past.”—Aberdeen Journal.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

CLARKE'S

WORLD FAMED

BLOOD MIXTURE.

(TRADE MARK,—“BLOOD MIXTURE.”)

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND RESTORER.

For cleansing and clearing the blood from all impurities, cannot be too highly recommended. For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin Diseases, and Sores of all kinds it is a never-failing and permanent cure,

It Cures Old Sores,
Cures Ulcerated Sore Legs,
Cures Scurvy Sores,
Cures Cancerous Ulcers,
Cures Glandular Swellings,

It Cures Blackheads, or Pimples on the Face
Cures Blood and Skin Diseases,
Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck,
Clears the Blood from all Impure Matter,
From whatever cause arising.

As this mixture is pleasant to the taste, and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex, the Proprietor solicits sufferers to give it a trial to test its value.

THOUSANDS OF TESTIMONIALS FROM ALL PARTS.

Sold in Bottles 2s. 6d. each, and in Cases, containing Six times the quantity, 11s. each—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases.

BY ALL CHEMISTS AND PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS

throughout the World, or sent to any address on receipt of 30 or 132 stamps by the proprietor,

F. J. CLARKE, Chemist, Apothecaries' Hall, Lincoln.

DR J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and Only Genuine.

CHLORODYNE

is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE

is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE

effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

CHLORODYNE

acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE

effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE

is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Lord FRANCIS CONYNGHAM, Mount Charles, Donegal, 11th December 1868.

“Lord Francis Conyngham, who this time last year bought some of Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne from Mr Davenport, and has found it a most wonderful medicine, will be glad to have half-a-dozen bottles sent at once to the above address.”

“Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he received a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Manilla, to the effect that Cholera has been raging fearfully, and that the ONLY remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE.”—See ‘Lancet,’ 1st December 1864.

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION. Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr J. Collis Browne was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See ‘Times,’ 13th July 1864.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words “Dr J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE” on the Government stamp.

OVERWHELMING MEDICAL TESTIMONY ACCOMPANIES EACH BOTTLE.

CAPT. JOHNSTON, KIRKWALL, AGENT FOR ORKNEY, Begs to call the attention of Farmers to the following Testimonials as showing the superiority of MATTISON'S Machines, and their suitability for Orkney:—

Capt. Wm. Johnston.

WESTBANK, KIRKWALL, 30th July, 1877.

SIR,—On Saturday last I tried the One-Horse Machine made by the Messrs MATTISON, and purchased from you, in cutting a field of Hay. The Machine will cut over an Acre of hay in an hour, driven moderately, does its work in every way satisfactorily, and is very light on the horse. I have had experience of the working of six single-horse machines, by different makers, and I can confidently say that this is the best one-horse machine that I have tried; and I have therefore much pleasure in bearing testimony to the ease and rapidity with which it does its work. (Signed) DAVID FINLAY, Mangr.

WESTRAY, August 22, 1877.

DEAR SIR,—We have given the Reaper we had from you a trial, and are perfectly satisfied with the work done. For lightness and ease of management, I believe this Machine is unsurpassed. I was always afraid of having a reaper, seeing the great strength required to work one, as our horses are light, but I believe we are now suited. The horse we had yoked in our Machine never seemed to mind it.—Yours truly,

J. W. CORSE.

Capt. Johnston, Kirkwall.

BOW, BURRAY, Orkney, Aug. 23, 1877.

DEAR SIR,—I am very well satisfied with your Two-Horse Combined Mower and Reaper, which cuts the grass well, and I have no doubt will do better in the corn crop.—Yours very truly,

AND. LAIRD.

Capt. Johnston.

BRECKASKAILL, WESTRAY, 1st Oct. 1877.

DEAR SIR,—I have great pleasure in recommending the Two-Horse Manual Delivery Reaping Machine I bought from you in September last, made by F. & H. MATTISON, as being easy on horses, quick of motion, and does its work to my entire satisfaction. One pair of horses can draw it for five hours with the same ease as they can plough or harrow.—Yours truly,

J. D. RENDALL.

LAWES' PATENT MANURES.

Sold under Guaranteed Analysis.

MR J. B. LAWES was the first introducer of Chemical Artificial Manures. It is now nearly 40 years since LAWES' PATENT MANURES were first manufactured, and during that time they have been largely used throughout the United Kingdom with great success, and can be relied on for good quality and condition.

During the few years they have been sold in Orkney great satisfaction has been given, and each year the demand has largely increased.

Lawes' Superphosphate of Lime.

This Manure is rich in Soluble Phosphates.

Lawes' Patent Turnip Manure.

This Manure is rich in Soluble and Insoluble Phosphates, and contains Organic matter and Ammonia, which give it a lasting effect.

Lawes' Dissolved Bones.

Some Farmers prefer this to Turnip Manure; it contains a large quantity of Insoluble Phosphate in the shape of Bones.

Lawes' Special Dissolved Bones.

This contains more Insoluble Phosphates and Ammonia than ordinary Dissolved Bones, and is much approved of.

Lawes' Potato Manure.

If Artificial Manure alone is used, Mr Lawes has prepared one for the purpose, which should be dibbled below the Seed. Highly recommended.

Lawes' Corn and Grass Manure.

Lawes' Concentrated Corn and Grass Manure.

Lawes' Phospho-Guano.

THE

“Thorough” Washer,

WITH

WRINGER & MANGLE COMBINED.

PRICES ————— from £4 10s ————— UPWARDS.

WE have pleasure in announcing that our “THOROUGH” WASHER still maintains the position it took on its introduction nearly six years ago, as being the only Machine which possesses the two essential qualities of not Injuring the Clothes and Washing Expeditiously; and that not a single competitor has been found to compete with it in a trial where a just comparison of the merits of the Machines has been the object.

No better proof is needed of the real estimation in which the “THOROUGH” WASHER is held than the fact that we have in vain ever challenged the whole trade, Agents or Judges in any Washing Machine Trials hitherto held, or whom it may concern, to a REAL TRIAL (not a chemico-juggling feat with doctored clothes and water), such as will test their pretensions in washing say Twenty Dirty Shirts, or anything of equal bulk—not a paltry handful of articles that never were dirty; all to be supplied from one common stock of clothes and soap and water, due care being taken against trickery.

SAVES SOAP.

The saving of soap alone will soon repay the cost of the Machine.

SAVES TIME.

The quantity of clothes that can be washed at one time is scarcely credible except seen, and the extraordinarily short time required is equally remarkable. THREE OR FOUR BLANKETS, SIX OR EIGHT SHEETS, AND FIFTEEN TO TWENTY SHIRTS CAN BE EASILY WASHED IN IT IN FOUR OR FIVE MINUTES; each of these quantities forms a moderate charge for the Machine, but a much larger number may be washed at once if required.

SAVES CLOTHES.

There is no possibility of the finest or tenderest fabrics being injured as they are even less liable to injury than if hand-washed. Heavy articles, such as hearthrugs, door mats, &c., are just as easily managed as lighter ones.

SAVES LABOUR.

Another very remarkable feature is the little power required. A boy or girl can easily wash with this Machine several times as many clothes as a man or woman can with any other.

WATCHMAKER AND WORKING JEWELLER,
Albert Street, Kirkwall,

BEGS respectfully to return his best thanks to the Clergy, Gentry, and general Public of Orkney for their kind patronage since he commenced Business, being upwards of twenty-seven years, and trusts, by keeping a Large and Well-Selected Stock, to merit a continuance of the same.

The Watch Department.

D. M. would specially call the attention of parties requiring a GOOD LEVER WATCH (either in Hunting, D.B., or Pair Cases) to the fact that he has been appointed AGENT IN ORKNEY for the 'American Waltham Watch Co.'

and he has selected a Lever Watch Jewelled in Six Holes and Gold Balance, with strong Cases—English made—which he is selling for £4 10s. Each Watch Warranted for Two Years, and all having "FOGG'S PATENT PINION."

REASONS

Why you should Buy an AMERICAN WALTHAM WATCH in Preference to any other—

ALL AMERICAN WALTHAM WATCHES have Fogg's Patent Pinion, to prevent damage to the train by the accidental breaking of the mainspring.

ALL AMERICAN WALTHAM WATCHES have hardened and tempered hairsprings, which secure a more uniform rate, and facilitate the regulating.

ALL AMERICAN WALTHAM WATCHES have hardened and tempered pinions, which prevent wear.

ALL AMERICAN WALTHAM WATCHES have a much longer and weaker mainspring than either Swiss or English watches, which reduces the wear and tear on all parts, and proves that the watch is properly constructed. In some instances the spring is 22 inches long.

ALL AMERICAN WALTHAM WATCHES are made on the interchangeable principle, so that if one piece should break it can be replaced by a new one, to be obtained from the Agent of the Company.

ALL AMERICAN WALTHAM WATCHES are warranted by special certificate to be made on the most approved principles, of the best materials, and to possess every requisite of a reliable Time Keeper.

ALL AMERICAN WALTHAM WATCHES are made on a principle spoken of by SIR EDMUND BECKET (late E. B. Denison) in his works on Clocks and Watches, where he remarks that, "there can be no doubt in the mind of any one who understands machinery that this is the best as well as the cheapest way of making machines which require precision and uniformity."

The public are cautioned that there are quantities of worthless imitations of WALTHAM WATCHES being offered for sale, usually called Boston Levers, American Levers, and other similar names. For the good performance of each WALTHAM Watch, under fair usage, the Company at all times hold themselves responsible, no matter where purchased.

D. MORGAN would also beg to intimate that he has instituted a

WATCH CLUB,

Whereby parties wishing to have a good, dependable Watch may, by joining the Club, and paying from 2/- to 4/- a-week, become the owner of a reliable TIME-KEEPER, and at the same price as if purchased for ready cash.

A most Extensive Assortment of Gold and Silver Watches, including Gold Watches from £3 10s to 20 guineas, Silver Watches from 7s 6d to £7 7s. All his Watches are selected with care, combining Strength and Elegance with the Best Finish, so as to guarantee accurate time-keeping—and all at very Moderate Prices.

The Jewellery Department

Contains Gold and Silver Guards, Albert Chains of every description, Gold Earrings, Plated and Mourning Earrings, Jet Brooches in great variety, Wedding Rings kept in Stock or made to order, Keeper Rings, Brooches, Scarf Pins, Locketts, Studs, Gauntlet Loops, and all other articles of the latest design in Jewellery.

SPOONS, FORKS, CAKE BASKETS, CRUET STANDS
FOR THREE, FOUR, AND SIX CRUETS; JELLY DISHES, MARMA-LADE HOLDERS, BISCUIT BOXES, TOAST RACKS,

D. M.'s Stock in this Department is large and complete, but should Customers require any special article, they can select from the Pattern-Books of one of the largest and best English manufacturers, and will be supplied at Maker's Prices. Parties wishing one or more articles to complete a set can be supplied on the shortest notice.

HARRISON, M'GREGOR & CO.'S

"ALBION"

MOWING AND REAPING MACHINES.

SEVENTY-NINE
FIRST PRIZES,
 Gold and Silver
 MEDALS, CUPS, &C.,

*Have been awarded to the "Albion" Mowing &
 Reaping Machines
 since the year 1873.*

Nearly Six Thousand of these already Celebrated Machines have been manufactured & sold since their introduction in 1873. The great and increasing demand, together with the numerous Testimonials received, and Prizes awarded, is conclusive proof of the great estimation in which they are held; and warrants HARRISON, M'GREGOR & Co. in asserting that for simplicity of construction, strength and durability, ease of handling, closeness and evenness of cutting, freedom from clogging, and lightness of draught—they cannot be surpassed; whilst for side-draught they stand unrivalled, being the lightest of all the Machines tried at the Royal Agricultural Society of England's great Trials at Taunton, in 1875.

Special attention is directed to THE NEW PATENT "ALBION" SELF-RAKING SIDE-DELIVERY REAPING MACHINE, THE NEW PATENT "ALBION" SELF-ACTING BACK-DELIVERY REAPING MACHINE, &
THE NEW IMPROVED "ALBION" COMBINED MOWER & REAPER, with Back-Delivery and Self-Acting Dropper Attachment.

HARRISON, M'GREGOR & CO.'S

"ALBION" MOWING & REAPING MACHINES.

In the Year 1877, H., M'G. & Co's Mowers and Reapers gained 19 First, 8 Second, and 2 Third Prizes, in the Principal Competitions. The following, which are included in the list, being THE MOST IMPORTANT TRIALS that were held during the Season:—

THE FIRST PRIZE,

At Valence, France, May 31st, Great Government Trial of Mowers, beating the Machines of Hornsby & Sons, Walter A. Wood, Samuelson & Co., Osborne & Co., (Kirby), Johnston, The "Buckeye," and several others.

THE FIRST PRIZE, GOLD MEDAL,

For the Best Two-Horse Mower,

THE FIRST PRIZE, SILVER MEDAL,

For the Best One-Horse Mower,

At the Preston Agricultural Society's great trials, held July 5th, in which THIRTY-EIGHT Machines were entered, including those of Walter A. Wood, Samuelson, Bamlett, Kearsley; Picksley, Sims & Co., Limited; Fell, W. Anson Wood, Williams, Brenton, and others.

THE FIRST PRIZE, OF £10,

For the Best Two-Horse Mower,

THE FIRST PRIZE, OF £5,

For the Best One-Horse Mower,

At the Great Mowing Trials of the Coquetdale Agricultural Society, held at Greenleighton, near Longwitton, Northumberland, July 31st, 1877, beating the Machines of Walter A. Wood, Samuelson & Co., Bamlett, Kearsley; Picksley, Sims & Co., Limited; Bickerton & Son, Brigham & Co., Kemp & Nicholson, and others.

☞ "MESSRS HARRISON, M'GREGOR & Co., from beginning to end, made splendid Work. The Cutting was so low as to be almost like shaving, scooping out the furrows as clean as the top of the ridges, and NO STOPPAGES, though the hand-rake was never used, not even for clearing the return after opening."—Extract from Report in "Live Stock Journal" of Great Trial of "MOWERS" at Green Leighton, on July 31st, 1877, in which Messrs Harrison, M'Gregor & Co., were awarded the Two First Prizes of £10 and £5.

Harrison, M'Gregor & Co.

Are Makers of the FIRST PRIZE "ALBION" CHAFF CUTTERS, ROOT PULPERS, TURNIP CUTTERS, OIL CAKE MILLS, HORSE GEARS, &c., which have gained numerous Prizes in competition with the Machines of all the leading makers.

Several Thousands of these Machines are in use, giving great satisfaction, and the demand is continually increasing.

Mr James M. Macbeath.

TESTIMONIALS.

STOVE, SANDAY, Oct. 1877.

DEAR SIR,—I have much pleasure in informing you that I used Mr Craig's Three-tine Circular Frame Grubber, which I had from you in March last, in preparing the turnip land, and I have no hesitation in saying that it is the best and most efficient grubber I have ever used for this purpose. It admirably suits the object for which it was intended, for it not only thoroughly turns over, and pulverises the soil under preparation, but it also throws all weeds to the surface, and at the same time goes over a large extent of ground.

I have not yet tried it for ploughing after oats or turnips; but from the work it has already done I have no doubt the grubber will turn over land equally as well as the plough, and, what is of great importance in a late season, like the present, will do the work in half the time. It is my intention to use it when ploughing after harvest for these reasons.—I am, dear sir, yours truly,

JOHN IRVINE.

Mr James M. Macbeath.

WEYLAND, BY KIRKWALL, 8th Oct. 1877.

DEAR SIR,—I have great pleasure in bearing my testimony to the efficiency of Mr Craig's Three-tine Grubber, which I had from you in December last. I have no hesitation in saying it is the best and most effectual implement of the kind I have yet used for preparing the turnip land. I consider one grubbing with it equal to three with those in general use, for it turns over and pulverises the soil so thoroughly, and also carries all the weeds to the surface. Though rather high in price to begin with, I am quite satisfied with my purchase, for its superiority over all other grubbers will amply repay my outlay.

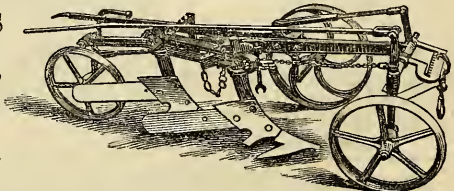

It is my intention to use the grubber for next year's crop, in turning over the land both after oats and turnips; and from the work it has already done, I have no doubt it will do this also to my entire satisfaction; and this it will do in half the time in which it can be done by ploughing in the usual way, which is a great consideration in a late season.—I am, dear sir, yours truly,

DAVID FERRIER.

UNITED KINGDOM

TEMPERANCE AND GENERAL PROVIDENT INSTITUTION.

ACCUMULATED CAPITAL—UPWARDS OF £2,000,000.

THE UNITED KINGDOM TEMPERANCE AND GENERAL PROVIDENT INSTITUTION was founded in 1840. It has therefore been in existence upwards of thirty-seven years, a period sufficiently long to test its soundness. The high position it has attained, and the magnitude to which it has grown, as shown by the fact of its having in hand, after payment of all claims, the large accumulated fund of over TWO MILLION POUNDS sterling. and being in receipt of an income of THREE HUNDRED AND THREE THOUSAND POUNDS per annum, are ample proofs of its present satisfactory financial condition, and form a good guarantee for its permanent stability and future success. The Institution being based upon the purely mutual principle, these funds have been entirely created by the accumulation of the premiums of the members, there being no subscribed capital, and consequently, no shareholders or proprietary body to draw any portion of profits from the assured. It must, however, be understood and explained, that although the Association is based entirely on the mutual principle, there is no liability resting on the members beyond the payment of their premiums.

The Institution, as its title indicates, assures the lives of abstainers from alcoholic beverages, and non-abstainers, in two separate departments, known respectively as the "Temperance and General Sections." The rates of premiums for assurance are the same in both section, but the receipts and expenditure of each are kept distinct, each section sharing its own profits.

Five divisions of profits have already taken place. In 1856, there was a cash surplus of £33,000; in 1861, £36,000; in 1866, £95,500; in 1871, £240,000; and in 1876, £348,400, making in the whole the large sum of £782,900, being not anticipated profits, but profits actually realised after every allowance had been made for expenses, and other future charges for carrying on the business, as well as provision for all risks.

AMONG THE ADVANTAGES OFFERED ARE—

Moderate Scale of Premiums; No Entrance Fees, or Charge for Policies; Policies Indisputable;
Division of Profits among Policy
Holders, &c., &c.

PAYABLE IN ADVANCE—COMMENCING AT ANY DATE.

NO ONE WHO HAS SEEN

TAYLOR'S
PATENT

SEWING MACHINE

WILL BUY ANY OTHER.

The Superiority of these Machines is sufficiently attested by their having already

WON ELEVEN PRIZE MEDALS,

Besides having Gained a

WORLD-WIDE REPUTATION & SALE.

Read the following from Tasmania :

MR. R. NEWAY, LAUNCESTON, TASMANIA.—“I may mention that every one who has had your Machines have preferred them to any other make, and in every instance they have given entire satisfaction. My daughter has had one in use over three years, doing all kinds of work, and it is as good as when new, never once having got out of repair, as is the case with so many of the cheap Machines.”

And this from Smyrna :

MESSES. DECIPRIS & Co., SMYRNA.—“Our experience in the trade having shewn us the superiority of “Taylor's Patent” over the various Machines sent out to us, we intend abandoning the sale of other descriptions in order to recommend and supply yours alone.”

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S C O C O A.

“By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame.”—The Civil Service Gazette.
